BREMEN BADLY DAMAGED

Hopoff to N.Y. Delayed Several Days; Fliers Were Lost 4 Hours in Fog

(By AP) The eyes of the world turned today to a tiny icebound island between Newfoundland and Labrador where the crew of the transatlantic monoplane Bremen were preparing to take the air once more and complete the interrupted journey from Ireland to New York.

How soon that takeoff could be made, the plane having been damaged in landing with empty fuel tanks after losing its way in the fog, remained a matter of speculation.

One message received at Ottawa during the morning reported that an attempt would be made to get the crippled plane into the air at noon, but shortly afterward Quebec received a message over the government telegraph wires saying that the Bremen had been found to be more seriously damaged than at first believed and that continuation of the flight would be held up several days.

The crew of the Bremen, two Germans and an Irishman, according to fragmentary messages relayed from the isolated island in the ice pack by dog sled, wireless and telegraph, made a forced landing yesterday afternoon on a small lake on Greenly Island.

Prior to that, one message said, they had wandered through the northern skies in a dense fog no eye could penetrate for four hours. They landed only when their fuel was exhausted and aviators believed

To Amaze an Atheist
Healthy Body, Healthy Mind
King, Queen and Henry

— By Arthur Brisbane —

CHARLES L. SMITH, an atheist who would not keep quiet about it, is accused of annoying the Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, Baptist. The trial begins next Monday.

How amazed would be the atheist, how edified the spectators, if, imitating an ancient prophet, the Rev. Dr. Straton, before judge and jury, should build a bonfire, drench it with water, and call down from the clouds fire to start it going. Atheist Smith would feel small, and take it back, after that.

A young boy, his spine straightened in a hospital, seems to have had his mind "straightened" at the same time. Before the operation he delighted in pulling wings off flies, and other cruelties. That is ended.

A healthy brain demands a healthy body. The greatest musician cannot produce harmony with a violin or piano out of tune. Millions are living that might be made better men and women if trephining could remove pressure from the top of the brain. Lack of reverence might thus be eliminated.

Interesting gathering at Cliveden, the house of Lady Astor, who frequently stirs up the British House of Commons.

King George and Queen Mary were there, so was Henry Ford, and they talked for two hours. King and queen know more about automobiles now than they ever thought anybody could know.

Britons would like to know what the king and queen of England and the automobile king from Detroit talked about. Ford will tell them when he gets ready.

One thousand letters, sent to 1000 clergymen, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, asked them to preach sermons and pray for a treaty "outlawing war."

Why not insert in each prayer a paragraph asking the Almighty to bestow on the Government of the United States brains enough

$31,000 PEARLS FOUND BY SOMERVILLE GIRL; $1500 REWARD IS HERS

Miss Ethel G. Walker of 198 Powder House boulevard, West Somerville, has found the $31,000 pearls of Mrs. Harold L. Chalfoux, society woman of 306 Marlboro st., and collects a reward of $1500.

The costly necklace, fashioned with a barrel clasp, set with diamonds, lay on the sidewalk in front of 739 Boylston st. yesterday at noon, she told her employer, W. E. Nutter, vice-president of the Electric Refrigerator Co. of New England, Boylston st., the first to hear of the find.

"I didn't think them of much value," she said today, "but held on

37 DEAD, 24 MISSING IN DANCE HALL BLAST FIRE

West Plains, Mo., April 14 (AP)—Thirty-seven persons are known to have been killed and 24 injured in an explosion and fire that destroyed a dance hall here last night.

Of the 37 charred bodies recovered only 17 have been identified. Twenty-four persons were reported missing.

Searchers believed a few more bodies would be found in the ruins. A coroner's jury heard several witnesses, but was not able to determine the cause of the explosion. The gasoline theory is that J. W. Weir, owner of a garage under the dance hall, truck a match igniting gasoline fumes. Weiser was killed.

Fire followed almost immediately after the explosion and destroyed three buildings before it was brought

AUTO KILLS STATE COP

Hurled through the air, when his motorcycle crashed with an auto on the Marlboro-Southboro road near Framingham, State Trooper John E. Higgins of the Framingham barracks was instantly killed today.

State police held Joseph P. Gaunt of Sterling ave., Providence, on a charge of operating so as to endanger lives of the public. A charge of manslaughter may be placed against him state police said.

With him were his wife, Mrs. Nellie Gaunt, their six-year-old son, Albert, and Mrs. Hazel Allen of Maynard, a friend.

According to the police, Higgins was proceeding in the direction of Marlboro on the Southboro road, when he came to a fork. The Gaunt car shot in front of the motorcycle forcing Higgins to apply the brakes suddenly, they said. Higgins soared through the air and crashed into the rear end of the Gaunt car.

Medical Examiner Bacon, pronounced the officer dead at the scene and his body was removed to a Framingham undertaker's rooms.

FLIGHT BULLETINS!

Quebec, April 14 (INS)—Duke Schiller hopped off from here at 10:15 a. m. for Greenly Island. The plane is expected to reach the Straits of Belle Isle between 4 and 5 this afternoon.

Quebec, Que., April 14 (AP)—A plane piloted by Dr. Louis Cuisinier left Murray Bay, Que., at 11 a. m. today for Greenly Island, where it was expected to arrive in five hours. It was his hope to bring back the crew of the Bremen tomorrow. A second Transcontinental airplane will leave for the island tomorrow.

CANADIAN ICE-CRUSHING SHIP OFF TO RESCUE BREMEN FLIERS

FORCING WAY FOR 200 MILES TO GREENLY ISLAND

that they were extraordinarily fortunate to escape injury.

The three fliers, Baron Ehrenfried von Huenefeld, sponsor, and Capt. Hermann Koehl and Col. James Fitzmaurice, co-pilots, were reported to be comfortable and to be in no immediate need, being cared for by the 14 persons who inhabit the island in the winter.

Two miles away across the ice on the mainland was a village of 300 people and another larger village was 15 miles away, where the nearest radio station was located.

Plans were at first made to send rescue planes both from the United States and Canada but these were modified during the day, it was decided that planes from the States would be unnecessary, as Canada was better situated to give what assistance might be needed. And Canadian officials decided that dispatching a plane to the little island where there was no good place for a landing was too hazardous a venture to be undertaken unless its need was imperative.

Instead a message was sent to the fliers asking them exactly what they needed and how soon. Government action was held up pending the reply.

In the meantime, an airmail plane had taken off from Quebec for Greenly Island.

Canadian Ice Crusher on Way to Save Bremen Fliers

Safe after achieving the first westward flight across the Atlantic, the crew of the Junkers monoplane Bremen were ice-bound on Greenly Island, off the Labrador coast, today, while one ship raced to their rescue and arrangements were being made for others.

When Capt. Hermann Koehl, Baron Ehrenfried von Huenefeld and Comdr. James E. Fitzmaurice awakened on the tiny island in Belle Isle Straits, between Labrador and Newfoundland today, the Canadian Government ice-breaker Montcalm was steaming to their rescue less than 200 miles away. It was the nearest ship of any size which had a chance of breaking through the ice fields of the Straits and taking off the two Germans and an Irishman who gambled with death to win through a flight called "suicide."

A message radioed from Capt. Mercier of the Montcalm stated that his ship was in the Gulf of St. Lawrence between East Point and Cape Ray and that he hoped to reach Point Amour, 10 miles from Greenly island, tonight.

There was a possibility, he admitted, that ice conditions might upset the schedule of his vessel. Whether the Montcalm would attempt to break through the ice and reach Greenly island or whether the three heroic airmen would be transported to Point Amour by dogsled, depended upon conditions encountered by the rescue ship.

If she breaks through, the Montcalm will probably land the Bremen's crew at some point in Nova Scotia.

There was a possibility that the Montcalm would find ice conditions so bad she would be unable even to reach Point Amour in Labrador, in which case other and larger vessels will be dispatched.

No attempts are contemplated to effect the rescue of the marooned trio by air. Several such flights were abandoned in the making with news that pilots acquainted with the ice wilderness of the Belle Island Straits considered the undertaking too hazardous.

The Junkers F-13, the Bremen's sister ship now at Mitchel Field, L. I., will not make the attempt. Fraulein Herta Junkers, 18-year-old daughter of the German airplane manufacturer to them to see what would happen.

"Last night I was listening to radio station WLOE and heard the report of the loss. You can imagine the feeling that came over me. Me with $31,000 in my possession that I found as I hurried to luncheon!

"The only thing to do was to call Mr. Nutter and ask his advice. He told me to report immediately to the insurance company, which I did.

"I suppose I am lucky, whether it is because I am a leap year twin or what, I don't know."

She was queried as to what she intended to do with the reward, and in reply, smilingly glanced down at the third finger of her left hand to reveal an engagement ring.

She would not discuss her coming nuptials, but intimated that visions of a love nest with all the fixin's were uppermost in her mind as she visioned the $1500 reward.

Miss Walker has been secretary to Nutter for a number of years. In part, she attributed her luck as the righting of a disappointment the first of the week when she lost a decision in a civil case at Malden.

"Things like that seem to right themselves," she said. "I suppose when a person is unlucky at times the fortunes soon turn and right themselves."

A picture of grateful society meeting the beaming and honest working girl was presented when the loser and finder met at the Broad st. insurance company office.

"I am very happy to have my pearls back," Mrs. Chalifoux told Miss Walker, "and doubly happy you found them in view of the nest egg for your wedding that is your reward."

Boy Who 'Found' Fliers Will Fly to See Them

Manchester, N. H., April 14—Filled to overflowing today is the cup of 18-year-old Erwin Stuart Davis, radio amateur, who gave the United States first news of the safe landing of the Bremen, for he will go by airplane to New York to be this city's official representative when the fliers are welcomed there.

Mayor Arthur E. Moreau, after going to the boy's workshop in Manchester st. to convey his congratulations in person, procured the services of Lieut. Richard Fogg of Concord to take young Davis to Mitchel Field when the overseas fliers leave Labrador.

A whoop of joy was the response this action or the mayor got from the tall, slender boy-hero of station 1-1-IA.

Stuart, as his friends call him, had little time today for listening in on the air. Congratulations, phone calls, visitors were storming him every minute.

"Surprised? I was almost overcome. I waited 13 years for a chance like that."

HIS BIGGEST THRILL.

This was his answer when folks asked him how he felt at receiving the first flash and getting the thrill of giving it first to America.

"It was the biggest thrill of my life, though I've had lots of great experiences with the radio, having received the last call sent out from Miami as the hurricane struck and all the messages from Vermont towns isolated by the flood."

He has no broadcasting apparatus. His receiving set is of one-stage radio frequency, with a conventional detector and amplifier.

Having owned radio apparatus since he was a tot of five years, he is radio-trained to his fingertips.

"I was tuning in for a message about the Bremen all afternoon after days of preparation," he said today at his home, 73 Manchester st.

"After several hours of waiting, catching a bit of commercial code from here and there, the dramatic flash reached my ears. I could hardly believe it, but I took it down with flying fingers.

LISTENS ALL NIGHT.

"A plane was sighted passing over the Bay of Fundy. Although too far distant to identify it was considered as possibly the Junkers plane Bremen."

"This was sent out by the Canadian government radio station at Louisburg, N. S. I looked at my watch and saw it was 7:14.

"At 7:40 I picked up the second message: 'We have just received a report that the plane landed at Greenly Island, near Point Amour, Labrador, but this is not official. We are trying to get in touch with our station at Point Amour and will advise as soon as possible.'

"That was from the Louisburg station, too.

"Then at 8:35 came the big flash I was waiting for: 'German plane landed at Greenly Island, known. Slightly damaged. Crew well.'

"I then listened in until the early hours of this morning and through the evening I heard the talks between the Radio Corporation of America station at Chatham and the Canadian government stations and the aviators' own words from the Point Amour Station.

THIS ONE HAPPENED IN BOSTON'S BACK BAY

Wrecked coupe, whose driver, a young girl, vanished from the scene in a taxicab after the crash hit and snapped off near the ground, one of the Huntington avenue's "white way" electric light standards in front of Mechanics Hall. The car had come out of West Newton st. according to eye witnesses and was running on the left hand side of the two-way thoroughfare toward Copley sq. when it hit the pole. Police are searching for the owner of the wrecked car.

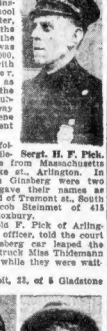
AUTOIST HELD IN KILLING

One girl is dead, her young man companion is reported dying, the alleged driver of the death car is held on a manslaughter charge and police are seeking a lone girl driver, following a hit-and-run accident and a crash in Greater Boston today.

The dead girl is Miss Helen Thidemann, 19, whose home was at 178 Green st., Cambridge.

Her companion, John Donohue, 23, of 1 Drummond pl., Cambridge, is on the danger list at the Symmes Hospital, Arlington.

Michael Ginsberg of 6 School st., Dorchester, arrested as the driver of the death car, was held in $10,000, charged with manslaughter, operating so as to endanger the lives of the public, going away from the scene of an accident and speeding.



Sergt. H. F. Pick.

His arrest followed a 60-mile, six-hour chase from Massachusetts ave. and Lake st., Arlington. In the car with Ginsberg were two others who gave their names as Vivian Ballard of Tremont st., South End, and Jacob Steinmet of 415 Seaver st., Roxbury.

Sergt. Harold F. Pick of Arlington, arresting officer, told the court that the Ginsberg car leaped the curbing and struck Miss Thidemann and Donohue while they were waiting for a car.

ASK FULLER TO TEST NEW SUNDAY FOOD LAW

Governor Fuller was urged today by Representative Maynard E. Clemons of Wakefield to get an opinion from the Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the law allowing the sale of fish, fruit and vegetables on certain Sundays, which was passed over the Governor's veto. As less than two-thirds of the total membership of the Senate voted when that branch failed to sustain the Governor's veto, Clemons question the finality of the vote.

DRINK TOAST TO GALLANT CREW AT BALDONNEL

Baldonnel Airdrome, Irish Free State, April 14 (AP)—Flying companions of Commandant James Fitzmaurice, co-pilot of the Bremen, this morning toasted the plane's gallant crew when news of their arrival at Greenly Island was received.

The officers were prepared to wait until daybreak for conflicting messages and rumors to be cleared up, but about 3 a. m., tense anxiety was changed into a joyful celebration when the news was telephoned from Dublin. A great cheer shook the roof of the officer's mess.

A huge silver cup presented to the mess by Baron von Huenefeld was filled with champagne and the health of the Bremen and her crew drunk.

Soldiers ran through the enlisted men's quarters shouting the good news.

From the officers of the air force a magnum of champagne decorated with the Free State tri-color, green, white and gold, was sent to Mrs. Fitzmaurice with their congratulations. Commandant Fitzmaurice will be promoted to colonel in the Saorstat Army for his part in the flight, the Associated Press learned today from a responsible source.

Plans are also being made for an all-Irish transatlantic flight to be undertaken next year.

Ireland was swept by emotion as it had not been since the days of civil warfare while it awaited news of the fate of the Bremen and its crew.

President Cosgrave was called from his bed in Dublin at 3 a. m. to be told the news and sent the following message through the Associated Press:

"We are very glad that three brave men landed safely. We are very proud that the first successful attempt to cross the Atlantic westward should have been made from Baldonnel and that a commandant of the Irish Air Force should be associated in the great enterprise."

the Government on the property of Coakley.

Coakley proved a claim in the commercial department of the Tremont Trust Co. for $221,000, according to the commissioner's petition, and later assigned this claim to Frank W. Knowlton, an attorney.

Two dividends of $13,750 each have since been declared on this claim, but Commr. Hovey declines to pay these dividends because of notice from the United States government that it has a lien on all property and rights to property belonging to Coakley for alleged unpaid income taxes.

The United States claims, according to the Bay State link commissioner, that from 1915 to 1921, inclusive, it is entitled to recover from Coakley in income taxes $3,819.282.95, together with interest of $880,629.30.

It further stated that Atty. Knowlton has informed the commissioner that the United States is not the holder of a valid lien against him and that he is entitled to receive the dividends. Being in doubt as to his rights, Commissioner Hovey seeks instructions from the Supreme Court.

WIFE OF BREMEN PILOT SEEKS NEEDED SLEEP

Berlin, April 14 (AP)—Mrs. Hermann Koehl, wife of Captain Koehl, co-pilot of the Bremen, received the news of the fliers' safe landing with gratification this morning.

After remarking that a load had been lifted from her mind she and her mother retired. They implored the ministry of posts telephones and telegraphs to shield them from inquirers so they might enjoy a needed sleep.

The morning papers contained no final news of the Bremen's whereabouts and the telephone in the Berlin bureau of the Associated Press was kept continually busy not only from Berlin cables but from outside points such as Munich.

While the German news agencies flashed the news of the plane's arrival to all subscribing papers about 3 a. m., German time these papers failed to issue extra editions with but one exception.

Zeroef Uhr Blatt appeared at 9 a. m. with the first details of the landing and had an unprecedented sale.

Junkers Hails Flight With Great Joy

Dessau, Germany, April 14 (AP)—Professor Junkers, head of the company which built the Bremen, who with other directors of the company kept a vigil until the safety of the fliers was assured, said today:

"It is a matter of the most supreme satisfaction that an airplane was able to serve in the promotion of international solidarity after the fateful events of past years."

In a cable to the plane's crew, sent by way of the German consul general in Montreal, he hailed the fliers as men whose heroism was crowned by the success of the flight.

"The great task of placing the airplane in the service of transocean communication has been brought a step nearer," he said.

Traditional comradeship in aerial navigation, he cabled, received a new impulse through the participation of Commandant Fitzmaurice and the joy and readiness of the Canadian and American peoples to assist.

Triumph for Courage and Science, Says Expert

Berlin, April 14 (INS)—"It was a triumph for courage and science," Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the Zeppelin Works said of the Westbound transatlantic flight of the Bremen.

"The first transocean flight from East to West is now an accomplished fact even if the fliers did not reach the destination they had set for themselves. It is to be hoped that so far as motors are concerned, we are nearing a solution of transocean flying.

"But as this flight clearly illustrated, there are still handicaps and limitations. It is to be hoped that further attempts will be made only when more suitable airplanes assure greater safety to the occupants. Otherwise, the whole thing becomes a mere nerve-wracking play with human lives at stake."

It was apparently a victory by a narrow margin, and the Bremen was reported damaged in landing on the ice.

Professor August Koehl, composer of music, uncle of Capt. Alfred Koehl, with the latter's cousins, Miss Margaret Koehl and Alfred J. Koehl, who waited long at Mitchel Field, L.I., for the fliers that came not. But later did come the joyous word for them that their kinsman and his companions were safe.

Erwin Stuart Davis, 18-year-old radio amateur of Manchester, N. H., who gave the world the first news of the landing of the Bremen at Greenly Island, as he appears at his receiving set. "It was the biggest thrill of my life," he said, speaking of the flash received after hours of tuning in to get some word of the Bremen. "I waited 13 years for a chance like that," he said. Mayor Moreau went to Davis' home today to congratulate him, and to notify him he will be sent to New York as the city's official representative when the fliers are welcomed there. Congratulations pouring in from everywhere kept him busy all day today.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

BOSTON, SATURDAY, APRIL 14, 1928

Point Amour lighthouse on the Labrador coast, 20 miles from Greenly Island by dog-sled. It was from the radio station at Point Amour that the first news of the safe arrival of the Bremen was sent to the world.

Unusual picture of Greenly Island showing how the fishermen's settlement is situated near the shore of the rocky island and the long rows of benches for drying fish, where the hardy seamen prepare their catch for the market. Here the crew of the Bremen can be made comfortable until rescuers arrive by ship or plane to start them on their way to civilization. The fliers will probably never again see such a welcome sight as this village was to them just as they reached the limit of their endurance.

PENNYPACKER-WHITMAN WEDDING IMPORTANT—BETTY ALDEN

IN SUNDAY PARADE ON COMMONWEALTH AVENUE

Families of Social Prominence United by Ceremonial Performed in Arlington Street Church Today

NUPTIALLY THE WEEKEND'S CENTER OF INTEREST IS MISS RUTH WHITMAN, daughter of the William Whitmans, Jr., who today at the altar of Arlington Street Church became Mrs. John Pennypacker. From parental rooftree to church is the shortest of journeys for the bride, since the William Whitmans, Jr., town establishment is at No. 17 of Boston's aristocratically renowned avenue and the brown pile of the church looms over that corner where the Garden's quiet and Boylston st.'s activity merge. Miss Whitman's patrician bearing and slender grace blended themselves excellently in the display of wedding finery.

WHITMANS OF THREE GENERATIONS WERE in the important company rustling to places within the high backed pews of the Arlington Street Church. That stately edifice has been the scene of many impressive ceremonials. Miss Whitman's tribal concerns Bostonians of high degree, members of those families long identified as the resident aristocracy and so in reality substantially its substance. After the ceremonial there was a reception at the Whitman home in the Avenue.

TRAVELING SOUTHWARD TODAY, THE PATHS of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bristow Draper will cross that of their eldest son, Benjamin B. H. Draper, Jr., who comes Northward. As their Southern objectives the senior Drapers have a luxurious seagoing houseboat and the Florida Keys. On the first they will roam the bright blue waters adjacent to the second, in pursuit of the sportive tarpon that fishermen of Mr. Draper's excellencies find rare adversaries. A hour with the much prized trophy of the deep, the wily sailfish, also is anticipated by Mr. Draper.

YOUNG MR. BENJAMIN DRAPER HAS BEEN playing golf in Pinehurst. Along with other young Harvard men he has been putting in the spring recess as best pleases his athletic tastes, following the small white ball over the perfect links Pinehurst boasts as a prime attraction. Spring vacation is now almost at an end, so reluctantly Mr. Draper turns Northward to reach the University City in good season for classes.

MR. AND MRS. DRAPER ARE SHARING THEIR pleasures with friends. Some from New York and other centers will join them on their Southward way, and be guests aboard during the stay in Southern waters. To sail a palatial craft that piles about the Florida Keys "houseboat" is a misnomer certainly, since each is the last word in modern luxury and comfort, a veritable miniature hotel afloat, and always to be as excellently appointed as the most finical taste could desire. Mr. and Mrs. Draper make a yearly habit of tarpon fishing, usually with the adjuncts of houseboat and guests.

THE STEAMSHIP CARONIA'S SUNDAY AFTERnoon sailing will be specially interesting since the liner takes out the Edward F. Gray family of Chestnut Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Frank Ilin Emmons of Hingham in a long and important list. The Grays, pater and mater and two charming daughters, Miss Helga Gray and Miss Stella Gray, make the crossing with regularity, it being their practice to spend the summer in England, and the winter here.

THIS SEASON THE OCEAN JOURNEY IS replete with thrills for Miss Stella Gray, for at the end of it she will make that all-important social journey, to Buckingham Palace to be presented to their Majesties. In this she follows the maternal and sisterly example, both Mrs. Gray and Miss Helga Gray having donned the three-plumed headdress and correct court regalia and curtsied before the throne. The Grays will not be back on this side until autumn, to resume their official station and social position.

FAMOUS IN MANY A WORLD PORT, AND familiar voyager on several of the Seven Seas, the Cyrus H. K. Curtis yacht Lyndonia moved majestically up the Potomac recently and dropped anchor off Washington. Like so many at this period the Curtises aboard their Lyndonia made the passage to see Washington in all its after-Easter glory of cherry blossoms. And the yacht at her anchorage is within view and scent of the riotous blaze of shell pink blossoms, that resembles a miniature Japan.

THE CURTISES HAVE WITH THEM ABOARD their yacht Mrs. Howland Russell of New York, formerly of Northampton, and so a friend of the Coolidges in the pre-presidential days. The three were White House guests for luncheon recently with the President, who is, or has been, playing solo in the entertainment line during the First Lady's visit to Massachusetts. Living aboard the Lyndonia as they do, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis stage much of their entertainment the sumptuous thing in dinners et cetera) on the craft which is their floating home, and a most luxurious one at that.

SOMETHING A BIT DIFFERENT FROM THE usual run of exhibitions is planned for April 16, onward, at the Twentieth Century Club. Not water colors, not sculpture, not oils or etchings bearing the name of some well known artist are to be shown. This exhibition is of "Arts and Crafts" done by women in Germany, and will hold forth at the clubrooms in Joy st from April 16 until the 28th. Nothing of this sort ever opens, except to the accompaniment of the steaming cup of tea, and that rite is well arranged for.

THE CUP OF 5 O'CLOCK CHEER IS DIRECTLY in charge of Miss Lotta Clark, and of the patronesses some of whom are likely to be seen behind the urns on the afternoons of the 16th there will be Mrs Eldon R. James, Mrs. Kuno Francke, Mrs. John F Moors, Mrs. Hugo Munsterberg, Mrs. Josef Redlich, Mrs. Eugene T. Redmond, Mrs. John Ritchie, Mrs. Edwin H. Rogers, Mrs. Walter Wesselhoeft and the Baroness Von Tippelskirch, spouse of the German consul in Boston. The "arts and crafts" display true German ingenuity, beautifully fashioned and artistically contrived.

EVERYTHING THAT MRS. PETER GOELET GERRY does has the touch of originality and beauty, and such was the children's party at the Congressional Club arranged to the queen's taste, a fairy queen at that. Little ones in fancy costumes turned the audience room into a veritable fairyland. There were May queens, and little folk out of story books: milkmaids and colonial costumes. Or pretty fluffy dresses trimmed with springtime flowers. Mrs. Gerry's flair for entertainment is as perfectly demonstrated when the Very Young Set are her guests as when their elders are the chosen ones.

COMPTROLLER WARNS BANK DIRECTORS

Tampa, Fla., April 14 (AP)—Comptroller of the Currency McIntosh charged in an address to the Florida Bankers' Association today that 29 per cent of the national bank failures the last two years were due directly to mismanagement.

"It is my belief that failures of many banks could have and can be averted if the directors would give closer attention to the affairs of the bank and not as mere 'figureheads,'" he said.

"Directors cannot merely select officers of good reputation for ability and integrity and then leave the affairs of the bank in such officers' hands without any supervision or examination.

"There is another type of bank director whom I bitterly oppose—the one who knows the business, but insists upon loading the bank with large lines of credit to himself, to businesses with which he is affiliated and to relatives and friends in a much greater proportion to the bank's loaning ability than is safe."

URGE LANDING FIELD IN EVERY TOWN AND CITY

An airplane guide post and an emergency landing field in every city and town in Massachusetts is the objective of the American Legion. Today, the aviation committee sent letters to every post in the State urging local commanders to work to bring about these two necessary aviation adjuncts.

BOY SAVES 7 AT MALDEN FIRE; WOMAN HURT

On the alarm spread by an eight-year-old boy, four grown persons and three children were saved from a farm today when fire swept through the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Wheeler at 20 Montrose st., Malden.

Mrs. Wheeler, responding to the cries of her son Charles, fell on the stairs leading to the second floor of the house and was rendered unconscious. She was revived by Patrolman Albert Ostechlid of the Malden police.

Wheeler, Mrs. Isabelle T. Tilton, mother of Mrs. Wheeler, Ivory Tilton, a brother, Harold Wheeler, Jr., 4, and Charles Allen, 8, a cousin, were the others that escaped. Tilton fled in a bath robe, having been routed from the bath tub when the alarm was spread.

The blaze started, in a manner not determined, on the second floor. Damage was estimated at $1500.

2 MEN KILLED WHEN SHIP HITS ICEBERG

Liverpool, Eng., April 14 (AP)—Two men were killed when the British steamship Montrose grazed an iceberg Monday while en route to Liverpool from St. John, N. B. The bow of the vessel was badly damaged and the anchors were lost.

(The Montrose, 9,324 tons, left St. John on April 6 for Liverpool, Lel (ast and Glasgow.)

Mother of Fitz Says: "Thank God! He's Brave Lad!"

Dublin, April 14 (TNS)—Commandant James E. Fitzmaurice's mother, who, together with his wife and child, had suffered the agony of suspense while her son was flying across the Atlantic Ocean, was joyous and thankful today that her son was safe.

"Thank God, my boy and the others are safe," she said. 'He was always a brave lad."

MISS WATSON WEDS PRINCE

London, April 14 (AP)—Prince Charles Philippe, Duc de Nemours, and Miss Marguerite Watson of Washington and Newport were married in London today.

Miss Watson was born in Richmond, Va., and has lived in Paris for a number of years. Her engagement to the late Reginald Vanderbilt was rumored in 1919, but this was never confirmed.

The duke is the only son of the Duke and Duchess of Vendome His mother is a cousin of King Albert of Belgium.

under control. Property loss was estimated between $100,000 and $150,000.

Thirty to forty couples were dancing when the blast came. The three-piece orchestra was nearing "Home Sweet Home." Miss Dimples Martin, at the piano, was pounding out the strains of a popular melody—nobody remembers the name. She is believed to have been killed.

Many of the injured were picked up on the streets far from the scene of the blast. H. C. Allen, merchant, was blown 53 feet and found with both legs broken and an arm torn off.

The intense heat and total darkness caused when the power plant was damaged, hindered rescuers. Soon after the explosion the walls of the building collapsed.

CHILD'S BODY IDENTIFIED AS VERMONT FLOOD VICTIM

Burlington, Vt., April 14 (AP)—The little girl whose body was found on the banks of the Winooski river near here yesterday was identified today as Dorothy May, one of the four children of John J. May of Bolton, whose entire family was lost when their home swept over the dam at Bolton last November. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. May and their other three children had been recovered. Identification was made by Mrs. Burt May, an aunt.

ARMED GUARDS FOR SMITH IN CAROLINA

Asheville, N. C., April 14 (INS)—Armed guards today were placed around the Biltmore Country Club where Governor Al Smith of New York has started a two-weeks' vacation. No one is permitted to enter the grounds without permission from Smith or members of his party.

Although it was not stated why the club property was placed under guard, it is believed the step was taken to aid the Governor to rest.

After the clamorous welcome thousands of persons accorded him when he arrived, he went out on the club links and played a round of golf.

ROYAL SOCIETY EXTENDS PRAISE TO GALLANT CREW

London, April 14 (AP)—Congratulations to the crew of the Bremen were extended in behalf of the Royal Aeronautical Society today by its president, Col. William Francis Forbes-Sempill. The statement was as follows:

"The society extends warmest congratulations to those who so successfully carried out this flight. The difficulties of a westward passage are so well known that they require no emphasis. Everyone will agree that the achievement is a very fine one and those who carried it through have thoroughly earned our highest praise."

CHILDREN SEE MAINE MAN KILL WIFE, SELF

Mattawamkeag, Me., April 14 (AP)—Harry Gordon, 40, a farmer on the East Millinocket road, three miles from this village, shot his wife today, then turned the weapon upon himself. Both died almost instantly. The shooting took place in the presence of several of their eight children, in the kitchen. Gordon has several times been convicted on liquor charges, his last sentence in the county jail at Bangor having been completed two weeks ago.

HARVARD STUDENT FOUND ON ROOF FREED BY POLICE

After a brief examination Back Bay police today released Raymond C. Colgate, 19, Harvard student, who had refused to give an account of himself when captured on the roof of an apartment house at 421 Andrew rd. Residents of the house had notified the police that two men were prowling about the fire escapes and roto.

CANADIAN PEER DIES ON CRUISE OF WORLD

New York, April 14 (AP)—The Hon. Francis Anson, a passenger on the round-the-world cruise of the Canadian Pacific Liner Empress of Australia, died on board the vessel at her pier here. Anson, who, according to members of his party, is a son of the second Earl of Lichfield, was taken ill four days before the vessel docked, on Thursday.

20 D. A. R. DELEGATES RESCUED FROM FIRE

Washington, April 14 (AP)—More than a score of delegates to the convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution here next week were rescued from a fire at a small hotel on G st. today. Some of them were carried down ladders. Mrs. Edith K. Kern, the owner of the hotel, spread the alarm.

Granby, Mass., April 14 (AP)—William Rutherford Smith, 70, son of George N. Smith, who was a first cousin of former President Rutherford Hayes, is dead at his home here.

Fine Feathers, Etc.

For once, the modest credit lines on a theater program stand for something. In "Chicago," at the Plymouth, the gowns, hosiery and rouge worn by that chic murderess, Roxie Hart, win all hearts in the jury box. To be sure, "gallant Cook County never yet hung a woman!"

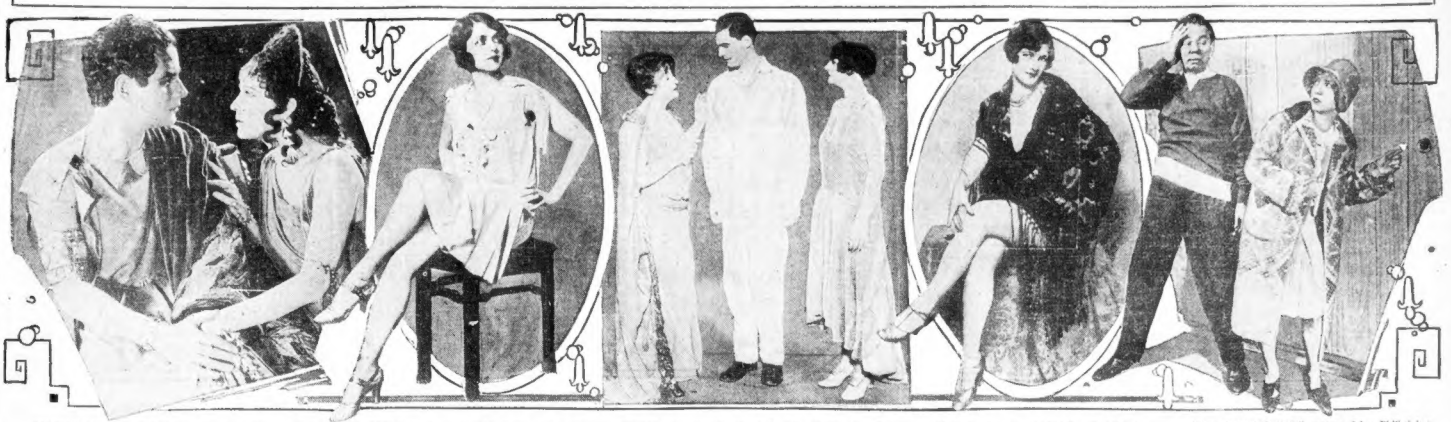
In "Porgy," at the Hollis, Bess thanks the judge for granting her a divorce. And the "judge" says: "Glad to serve yo'; when yo' ready to buy license come to me. Yo' ought to be stylish like white folks and follow up divorce wid marriage license yes, indeed." Good mawnin', Bess.

NEW WEEK TURNS UP TWO FRESH TENANTS FOR REGIONS OF DOWNTOWN DRAMA



PONTIUS PILATE, the first buck-passer, receives a call from Magdalene the wicked in the biblical spectacle, "The King of Kings," at the Colonial. Victor Varconi and Jacqueline Logan are the players.

"IF EYES," as Emerson said, "were made for seeing, The Beauty is its own excuse for being." And "Here's Howe" Irene Delroy will look in her new show of that name Monday at the Shubert.

THESE CHARMING PEOPLE will appear in "The Silver Cord," Sidney Howard's new play coming Monday to the Wilbur. They are, reading from left to right, Laura Hope Crews, Alden Chase and Elizabeth Risdon.

AN OLD SPANISH CUSTOM, or rather costume, is brought to light by Lois Gray in the nautical musical, "Hit The Deck," at the Tremont. Ain't it simply charming?

"OH, EUPHRONISBA," groans John Philbrick, "the game is up, it's the third down." "Not so," exclaims Dolores Farris, "through ills orifice behold the sacrifice not yet done." "Good News" (Majestic).

REVIVALS COAXING TENDER PLAYGOER

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

MANY times before it has been remarked that the real endurance of the spoken drama rests securely, safely and sanely with revival. It is no old story. As Mr. Al Strassman remarked yesterday: "Why pay royalty for good and sound farce, comedy or tragedy when you may pick a gem of Will Shakespeare from any budding tree and acquire the best there is in accepted English literature—or ambling dramatics." These words are Strassman's—not mine. Still they were impressive, for it has gradually sifted through our best local channels that the life and energy of the spoken drama reposed only upon ancient manuscripts brought to life.

OF course, Mr. Strassman had only in mind the forthcoming reproduction of Shakespeare's "The Merry Wives of Windsor," for which, in purposes of glorification and profit, Mr. Harrison Grey Fiske has enlivened his venture with such people as Mrs. Fiske, Otis Skinner and Henrietta Crosman. These are names, of course, which naturally catch the eager eye of the playgoer, yet the play itself is set down as one of the most rollicking farces—or should we say comedies—known to the earnest theatre-goer of at least three centuries.

HOW the spirit of revival holds the expectant producer may be gauged from simple deduction in current affairs of the theater. For at least two seasons the spenders have given more of their attention and their income to George Tyler's resurrections and to Winthrop Ames' revivals than ever seemed possible. Modern producers have turned themselves into a cold sweat to make "The Rivals," "The School For Scandal," "Treiawney of the Wells" and "Diplomacy" heart throbbing contributions to dramatic art; musically Mr. Ames has given us "The Pirates of Penzance" and "Iolanthe," with "The Mikado," once more revived for good business reasons and, as it turns out, with satisfactory returns.

THE approach of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," through Mr. Fiske, reminds us that the speciality in revival is not individual. Even the far-reaching Shuberts have entered the field with "Within the Law," a good and spirited melodrama, which is just finishing up a single week in Boston to everybody's satisfaction, while George Arliss' proposed "The Merchant of Venice" is scheduled for presentation at the Plymouth early in May.

It cannot be said that the escape from play royalties is responsible for these frequent dispositions toward revival. More than likely it is a managerial belief that the native drama is sporadic and indefinite. At least the playgoer knows his Shakespeare; more than likely he may be seeking relief in Gilbert and Sullivan. Having tasted the native drama with "Chicago," and having done his best to enjoy many incursions of musical comedy, he still may be willing to entrust the declining days of a fading season to the gay and quixotic Nineties.

DUE FOR TRIMMING

IN "RED HAIR" at the Scollay Clara Bow is the gold-digging manicurist Will Shakespeare had in mind when he said: "There is a divinity that shapes our ends." Lage Chandler is the rough and ready boy.

Friend Returns

BLANCHE YURKA, long a favorite in Boston, will appear in the leading character of "The Squall" at the Plymouth, April 23.

SCORNS ALL PUBLICITY

Here is a shrinking violet of the chorus who scorns publicity. She refuses to be photographed. She will not be interviewed and she will not give out the least details of her life. But the roaring genius in the private detective agency of the "Hit the Deck" company have unearthed a few facts concerning the history and private life of one of the most talked-of young members of that company. She is "Pudgy" Dukor now appearing as the leading chor later of "Hit the Deck" at the Tremont.

Miss Dukor was born in Monmouth, N. J. Her ancestors were some of those Hessians who were captured by Gen. George Washington at the battle of Trenton and who never returned home to face the consequences of defeat. They preferred to settle in the fertile fields of this country and grow up with the new generation.

A lineal ancestor, Baron Freiherr August Leopold Scherrstein von Dukor, was an officer on the staff of the commanding chief of the Hessians and when they were captured at Trenton, Gen. Washington nobly gave him back his sword, instead of breaking it into pieces.

Gen. von Dukor, after the revolution, settled on a farm near Jamesburg, N. J., in due time became an American citizen, and was later a member of the house of delegates of the first State Congress assembled at Trenton. His son Baron von Dukor, married one of the beautiful Fairchild sisters who resided at that time in what was known as May's Landing, and at her request, the "von" was dropped from the family name and it became simply "Dukor." Henceforth, the family raised tobacco—although not related at all to the Dukes of North Carolina.

NEWSPAPER FILM

A nation-wide contest has determined the title to be used for Universal's newspaper production by Peter B. Kyne. It will be called "Freedom of the Press." Lewis Stone, Marceline Day and Malcolm McGregor are the featured players.

Looking Ahead

APRIL 23—
"The Merry Wives of Windsor" at the Hollis.
Blanche Yurka in "The Squall" at the Plymouth.

MAY 8—
George Arliss in "The Merchant of Venice" at the Plymouth.

NEXT WEEK'S NEW BILLS

WILBUR—"The Silver Cord," with Laura Hope Crews, a play by Sidney Howard. A story of mother love, showing domestic conflict in all its engulfing bitterness. In the supporting cast are Elizabeth Risdon, Parmelia Simpson, Jack Livesey, Alden Chase and Hazel Stone. Produced by William A. Brady.

SHUBERT—"Here's Howe," a new musical comedy. Book by Fred Thompson and Paul Gerard Smith; lyrics by Irving Caesar; score by Roger Wolfe Kahn and Joseph Meyer. It is said to have a definite and well sustained plot. In the cast are Allen Kearns, Irene Delroy, Don Barclay, Peggy Chamberlain, William Frawley, Helen Carrington, Arthur Hartley, Ross Himes and Colette d'Arville. Ben Bernie and his band are a feature. Dances by Sammy Lee; setting by John Wegner. Produced by Aarons and Freedley.

ST. JAMES—(Stock) "Two Girls Wanted," a comedy drama by Gladys Unger. The story concerns a boy and two girls, each of whom becomes involved in amusing complications. The leading roles are taken by Clara Joel and Dorothy Lyons, a new member of the company. Staged by Samuel Godfrey.

GAYETY—(Burlesque) "Sporty Widows," a mixture of music and mirth. In the cast are Charles Devine, Dew and Stone, Al Allen and Kitty Le Roy, not to mention a spirited chorus.

Alice Day, Rare Sennett Star, Now Graduated

Alice Day, petite featured player, who has the leading feminine role in William Haines' latest picture "The Smart Set," Loew's State, was for a long time a Mack Sennett star—the first since Mabel Normand.

Alice, who is a sister to Marceline, was born at Colorado Springs but moved to Salt Lake City when very young. Together with her sister, she has had a most successful career.

Alice's charming personality was directly responsible for her entrance into the movies.

It was while she was at a beach resort, the scene of one of Mack Sennett's "locations," that the latter noticed her and made a flattering offer for her appearance in his comedies. She accepted and for several years was starred by the comedy master—a thing unique for a young lady with Sennett.

Another Trick to Foil the Camera's Vigilant Eye

There were no non-skid tire tracks in the dirt streets of Frankfort, Kentucky, during the Civil War. This fact caused a strange sight on First National's "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" set when scenes were made for the picture, which comes tomorrow to the Washington Street Olympia.

On an old-fashioned Southern street representing Frankfort before the Civil War, Richard Barthelmess walked slowly down the center of the road. He was playing a country boy who had never seen a town. Just ahead of him was a huge auto truck with cameras and lights on board. As the truck slowly preceded the star, five boys with brooms followed in its wake, frantically wiping out the tire tracks in the deep dust. Frankfort of 1860 knew no rubber tires, and even the tracks of a modern truck had to be erased lest the ever-vigilant camera would "pick them up."

THIS IS "PORGY"

Reviving 'Wives'

HENRIETTA CROSMAN comes to the Hollis on April 23 with Mrs. Fiske and Otis Skinner in "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

VIGOR BUILT BY DANCING

Sprightly and bedimpled Irene Delroy, dancing star of "Here's Howe," new attraction at the Shubert, quickly assures Stanley Forever" to the authors of all interviewers—"to what do you attribute your success?"

When she was eight years old a severe attack of this unpleasant and often fatal malady was visited upon her, and as is frequently the case, the disease left the small victim in such a wretched condition that the doctor looked grave and held out small hope for the future—unless something could be done to safely fortify the weak little convalescent.

Something was done. A system of physical culture was evolved for the girl by an aesthetic dancing teacher whose viscerous course of sprouts worked wonders.

This was in Bloomington, Ill., and they still tell of the small maiden drifting about pursued by clouds of coloring matter and lotion, that was the chief attraction of the church socials.

Because outstanding talent is difficult to restrain, Miss Delroy found herself at 15 one of the best specialty dancers for the Chicago Civic Grand Opera Company. Mary Garden, at the time, christened her "Dimples," and the nickname has become a fixture ever since.

"APPEALING" YARN

Beatrice Van has thrown her bonnet in the ring with a companionate marriage story. Its title is "Sex Appeal" and Miss Van wrote it for Ernst Lubitsch to produce following his latest picture, "Trifles of the Follies."

Film Futures

APRIL 20—
Pola Negri in "Three Sinners" at the Metropolitan.

APRIL 22—
George O'Brien in "Sharpshooters" at the Keith-Albee Boston.
Chester Conklin in "The Big Noise" at the Washington Street Olympia.

APRIL 23—
"Rose Marie," with Joan Crawford and James Murray at Loew's State.

APRIL 28—
Belle Bennett in "Motherhood" at the Fenway.

APRIL 29—
Billie Dove in "The Heart of a Follies Girl."

PSYCHES HER ROLES IN ADVANCE

Psychoanalysis is a word not frequently added to the common vocabulary. But the process according to Elizabeth Risdon is one which has long been in use among actors in the preparation of a character for the company appearing in "The Silver Cord," in which she and Laura Hope Crews in the opening play of the Wilbur on Monday night. She plays the role of Christina, Miss Crews' distaff brother-in-law, before learning how or "what" she is to portray.

"A person who is emotionally stirred," says Miss Risdon, "finds himself or herself to be the analyst through the replies to the questions. A record is made of these answers and from this the master delines the temperament and character of the patient.

"This is exactly the process an actor uses in working out the interpretation of a new part. Before attending the first rehearsal of "The Silver Cord," I penciled down answers that is, I took her words as recorded by the author of the play, Sidney Howard, and discovered from them what a fair-minded, frank, self-controlled girl she was. Not that Christina hasn't some violently emotional scenes in the play. But her kindly, clear character sounds that note from the slow to anger.

MODERN MUSIC TALK

Carmela Ippolito and Scholastica Steinman will be heard in the Homewaer violin sonata, in the last of Henry Gideon's interpretive lecture-recitals for the Copley tea next Saturday evening. The concert, which was originally scheduled for the evening of March 31, will also feature Raymond Simonds, group of songs by Darius Milhaud, ultra-modern French composer. Mr. Gideon will assist with Mr. Simonds in the talk on the trend of modern music.

PIANIST IN CONCERT

By MOSES SMITH

Maria Ilenza, soprano, and Ralph Leopold, pianist, were heard in a joint recital at Jordan Hall last night. The program, which began late and was a long one, was rendered by a fair-sized audience that appeared without great display of enthusiasm.

Miss Ilenza made four appearances, singing a group of three old songs at the beginning, "Isaia's Dream" from "Lohengrin," a group of numbers in which she was assisted by flutist Jean Kirk, violinist, and finally five songs in English. Mr. Leopold played the Tausig arrangement of Bach's Toccata and Fugue in D minor, Chopin's Nocturne in D-flat and Scherzo in C-sharp minor, modern numbers, and Wagner's "Ride of the Valkyries."

Mr. Leopold unquestionably relieved an otherwise dull concert. He began convincingly with the Bach number, announcing from the start his extraordinary command of tone and exhibiting natural temperamental feeling. Too strong a display of the latter, on the other hand, detracted from the poetry of the Nocturne. And in the Scherzo he was hailed by clearly the most moving moments of the opening measures, the bustling dash of the second section. His treatment of this piece was too stodgy, even though we did not object to the intrinsically broad A A number by Jensen and Dohnanyi's toyed Rhapsody Mr. Leopold played charmingly.

Miss Ilenza, to put her case at its best, is not prepared for public appearances. Her voice, though exhibiting flashes of good quality of the type possessed by Germaine Schnitzer, is a vibrant, flat vibrato. Her tone-modulation is generally faulty, with the result that her notes have a hard edge, not by any shrillness high up in the scale. And there was no compensation in the way of natural interpretative ability.

Diana Eleanor Neumann did not help matters by her over-balanced accompaniments, nor did the violinist add materially to the pleasure of the evening.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra will give the last concert of the Tuesday afternoon series in Symphony Hall, on April 24 at 3 o'clock.

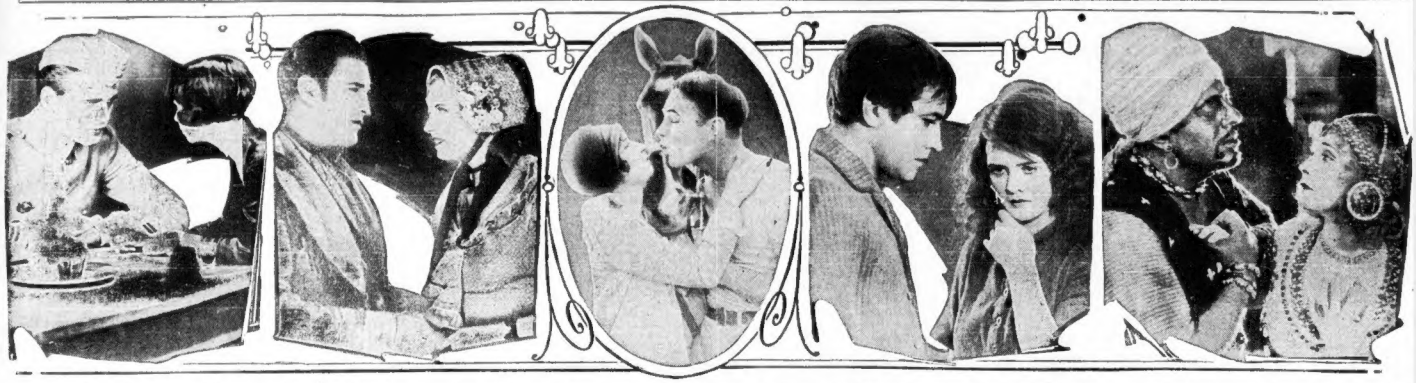
STAGE AND SCREEN

But the Audiences Do!

When the arch-rapscallion, known—when you know him—as "The Wrecker," meets his timely death under the wheels of the Copley Theater's favorite locomotive, the old engineer queerly remarks at the close of the play: "I knew the engines wouldn't stand for it!"

CAREERS OF DANGER AND DARING UPPERMOST IN THE NEW FILM ATTRACTIONS



THE WAY Gary Cooper fights and drinks in "The Legion of the Condemned" finds him half shot all the time. Chariot Hird is the Good Influence that fails. (Metropolitan)

IN DEAD DOG GULCH, Four-gun Fred Thomson in "The Pioneer Scout" who loves a lassie, Nora Lane meets him by the cactus and eagerly drinks in The Words She Longs to Hear. (Boston.)

NOSEY! Some guys simply must have a nostril in everything. Here is Alcibiades, the polo pony, butting into the wrong game. Alice Day and Wm. Haines in "The Smart Set." (State)

THE HEIGHT OF FASHION. Richard Barthelmess and Molly O'Day pose here in the latest from Paris, Ky. Gowns, coats and hair, they say, will be longer this year. "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." (Olympia)

"AH, GILDED GILDA," gushes Michael Vavitch, "come to my farm and fireside!" "Nix," she murmurs absently, "You're no ladies home companion." This is Gilda Gray in "The Devil Dancer" at Loew's Orpheum.

AERIAL WARFARE AT METROPOLITAN

By LEO GAFFNEY

SINCE "Wings" was like so much beef, iron and wine to undernourished gate receipts everywhere, good Dr. Paramount will write another prescription, using the same ingredients, and hand it to Chief Chemist William Wellman to compound in his well known and expert fashion. Very boxofficey, then, is "The Legion of the Condemned," new film of war, love and aeronautics at the Metropolitan.

EVERYTHING that "The Legion" has "Wings" had—excepting "Paramount's Glorious Young Lovers," Gary Cooper and Fay Wray, which is a sugar of milk addition to the original formula. Not so long ago this column, in a burst of confidence, came right out and predicted a brilliant future for Gary Cooper. But little did it think at the time that they would ever make a Glorious Lover of him! And, somehow, the little feeling will not down that he really "ain't that kind."

"THE Legion of the Condemned" refers to the famous Lafayette Escadrille. The corps is pictured as a collection of super-determined young men who joined the organization for desperate reasons, to get away from what is known as "it all." Each, embittered by some past experience, thought to arrange his own death sentence by choosing this extremely hazardous service.

IN a series of quick fadeins, showing the "pasts" of four or five of the boys, Mr. Wellman starts his story well on its way. Soon catching up with the war, he plunges the reckless lads at once into action. Mr. Cooper, daredevil of the lot, joins the party in a drinking den (which is all to the rowdydow) and proceeds to give the entire company cards and spades when it comes to sheer cussedness. It seems that Gary's gal had made a monkey of him back in the States and he was out to smash himself to pieces as grandly as possible. How the kind Fates and a willing scenarist threw them both together again, and how the young gallant rescues the father of the Glorious Young Lovers from an enemy firing squad completes the action of this teeth-gritting melodrama.

MR. WELLMAN'S aviation stuff is, as you might expect, excellently made and vigorously thrilling. So also are many of his ground scenes, especially the one in which Barry Norton, being shot as a French spy, sees the world upended for one deathly sick moment before sagging lifeless to the ground. And, by the way, any more such good acting from young Mr. Norton and we will break out again in predicting more and better Brilliant Futures.

ALTHOUGH Fay Wray has been working in pictures for many months, this is her first appearance on a Boston screen. She was discovered by Eric von Stroheim for his "Wedding March." But inasmuch as Mr. Von Stroheim makes his pictures like the Old World artisans built their churches —carefully and long—Miss Wray's "debut" is still something to be arranged.

IN trade circles "The Legion" will be regarded as "in money." That is why it was made, and the best that can be said for it is that, as such, it is a thorough, woman-like job.

WARNS THE FLAPPER

Natalie Kingston, who has an important role in support of Barbara Bedford and Malcolm McGregor in "The Port of Missing Girls," at the Modern and Beacon Theaters, has been seen in many productions. On location one day during the filming of this picture Miss Kingston remarked: "When this picture is completed and shown throughout the country, I will feel as though I have done my part in warning the feminine youth of today of the dangers that lurk at every corner for them.

Natalie Kingston

"With the growing independence of the modern girl, the number of reported missing girls is enormous. Where they go or what they do, no one knows, as no word is ever received from them, once they leave home. In 'The Port of Missing Girls' all the dangers are clearly depicted, bringing a lesson to every young girl of today that certainly should be heeded."

HAYES RETURNS

Contrary to announcement and expectation, Roland Hayes will return to America this month, instead of next October, when he is to open his fifth tour of America. The tenor has been urged and has agreed to give a single American concert this season, and will accordingly sing in Symphony Hall on Sunday afternoon, April 29, thus closing the Sunday afternoon series.

WHAT'S WHAT WITH SHOWS REMAINING

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

"Chicago" at the Plymouth. (Second week.) Well, if this is Chicago we prefer Newport, N. H. The last week.

"Porgy" at the Hollis. (Second week.) Life in the raw on Catfish Row. Stern drama, sternly done.

"Hit the Deck" at the Tremont. (Sixth week.) The United States Navy in song and dance, and deep-sea capers.

"Good News" at the Majestic. (Fifth week.) There never were girls like these when we went to college.

"The Wrecker" at the Copley. (Sixth week.) Just a little train ditching in the interest of art.

FILM FARE FOR NEW WEEK

METROPOLITAN—Gary Cooper and Fay Wray in "The Legion of the Condemned" (first run), screen play by John Monk Saunders. Another "air picture" of the war. All about the boys whose sweetheart was Danger. The cast includes Barry Norton, Lane Chandler and Francis McDonald. William Wellman directed. A Paramount picture. On the stage, Frank Cambria's "Swauee Moon" with Gene Rodemich bandshow.

LOEW'S STATE—William Haines in "The Smart Set" (first run), screen play by Byron Morgan. Sport story involving an international polo match. Cast includes Jack Holt, Alice Day, Hobart Bosworth and Constance Howard. Jack Conway directed. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture. On the stage, Ledova and ballet troupe.

NEW BOSTON—(Starting tomorrow) Fred Thomson in "The Pioneer Scout" (first run), screen play by Frank Clifton Western melodrama of the period of about 1850, showing the hardships of the relay scouts who guided the transcontinental wagon trains. Cast includes Nora Lane and William Courtright. Lloyd Ingraham and Alfred Worker directed. A Paramount picture. Also vaudeville.

OLYMPIA—(Starting tomorrow) Richard Barthelmess in "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" (first run), adapted from the popular novel by John Fox. A romance of the Kentucky hills. Cast includes Molly O'Day, Gardner James, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Claude Gillingwater. Alfred Santell directed. A First National picture. Also vaudeville.

SCOLLAY—(Starting tomorrow) Clara Bow in "Red Hair," an Elinor Glyn story. Lively comedy-romance concerning the adventures of a gold-digging manicurist. Cast includes William Austin, Lane Chandler and Lawrence Grant. Clarence Badger directed. A Paramount picture. Also vaudeville.

MODERN AND BEACON—Barbara Bedford in "The Port of Missing Girls" (second week). If this problem play, with its strong warning for the young, can save one of the 75,000 girls who annually disappear," then its benefits are incalculable.

LOEW'S ORPHEUM—Gilda Gray in "The Devil Dancer" (first run), screen play by Harry Hervey. Dramatic story of an English girl, held prisoner in far off Tibet, to dance in the temples of the devil-worshipping monk cults. Cast includes Clive Brook, Anna May Wong and Michael Vavitch. Fred Niblo directed. A United Artists picture. Also vaudeville.

* * *

FENWAY—(Starting today) George Bancroft in "The Showdown." Also Jack Mulhall and Dorothy Mackaill in "Ladies' Night in a Turkish Bath." Starting Wednesday, Richard Barthelmess in "The Noose," and Madge Bellamy in "Silk Legs."

Roy D'Arcy Goes to Tiffany

By LOUELLA PARSONS

LOS ANGELES, April 14—Those who have grown used to looking for Roy D'Arcy's teeth and forefinger on the fore-runner of any villainous screen plot will be interested to hear that he has signed to make four pictures for Tiffany-Stahl, two for 1928 and two for 1929.

There are rumors that D'Arcy and Lita Grey Chaplin are engaged, although both parties vehemently deny these reports. They are seen everywhere together and have been for the past few months.

ROD LA ROCQUE and Cecil De Mille promptly and most effectively put a stop to the rumors that Rod would make no more pictures on the De Mille lot. There was talk that Rod would play opposite Vilma Banky. There was also talk that Rod would be lent to another studio. But we need give no credence to these reports, since Rod starts work on Tuesday.

"Love Over Night," an original story by George Irvongold and Sanford Hewitt, the famous polo player, has been chosen for LaRocque's next picture. E. H. Griffith will direct.

Instead of the blonde Vilma there will be the blonde Jeanette Loss, the little girl who played opposite Rod in "Hold 'em Yale." Miss Loss, you will remember, was discovered in a Portland theater when she decided to come into pictures. Tom Kennedy has a featured part and Hector Trumbull will cast a superviling eye on the production.

ENTER our friend Hoot Gibson. Hoot's been out of the picture game ever since Universal clanged the old iron gate closed. Now he returns, announcing he will make "On Sunset Range," a good old western, with Dorothy Gulliver as the girl who rides with him into the open spaces. Breezy Eason, director of most of Hoot's horse "operas" will direct. If you think Hoot's public isn't pleading for these dramas you don't know your movies. They eat them alive.

* * *

THERE is no danger of Polly Moran growing stale from lack of work. Polly, whose nimble tongue rattles off spontaneous wittisms in keeping with her scren comedy, is booked for six pictures by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. She is making three of them at the same time and loving it.

New York Yiddish Company at Grand Opera House

Nathan Goldberg and Rose Goldberg, with the entire Prospect Theater Company of New York city, will supplant the Hollander Troupe, which moves to Toronto, Canada, at the Grand Opera House beginning April 15. Their first offering is a new play called "Children of the Underworld." The Goldbergs will be supported by David Barata, Marly Bared, Peter Graf and Lucy Finkel.

Nathan Goldberg

Miss Finkel is a sister of Bella Finkel who appeared with her husband, Muni Weisenfreud, in "Four Walls" at the Hollis St. Theater not long ago.

STAGE AND SCREEN

Ah, Such Philanthropy!

In the collegiate "Good News," at the Majestic, Babe O'Day, a frisking sophomore played by Marie Callahan, repulses the advances of a goofy admirer with this dismaying declaration: "My business is to take raw material, polish it up and then throw it back into circulation."

Mr. East, Meet Mr. West

By some caprice of the camera it was impossible to photograph a sunset for Fred Thomson's "The Pioneer Scout," new film at the Keith-Albee Boston. The red rays from the West simply would not register. But the dawn's silvery glow was different—and would do just as well.

VARCONI OF HUNGARIAN SCHOOL

Left securely placed on Hollywood's shores by the ebb tide of the foreign motion picture invasion, we find a few capable directors, fewer female stars than last year and several actors of the first magnitude who have a certain new technique to offer American audiences.

Victor Varconi, one of the most promising of the young players, is a worthy importation from the European stage which has sent Hollywood men of the calibre of Emil Jannings, Conrad Viedt and Rudolph and Joseph Schildkraut. Varconi's part of Pontius Pilate in Cecil B. DeMille's "The King of Kings," at the Colonial, is an outstanding characterization in this picture made with 23 well known stars and conspicuous for its exceptional acting.

Victor Varconi, who was a well-known leading man on the continental stage before his migration to America, was born on a small farm near Budapest, Hungary.

After completing a course in a commercial school in the Hungarian capital, Varconi became a solicitor for a large insurance company. An amateur performance by the salesmen of his company is said to have prompted the desire to follow Thespis, and the young man entered the "Actor Art High School" in Budapest. There his progress was so marked that during the second year there was a contract forthcoming from the leading theater in the second largest city in Hungary.

Then followed an engagement of three consecutive seasons with the National Theater in Budapest, where Varconi became a close friend of Molnar, whose dreams have become very well known in America. It was at this theater that he established his reputation by playing Molnar's successes, "Liliom" and "The Wolf," and in such Shakespearean roles as Romeo, Marc Antony, Hamlet, and as Richmond in "King Richard III."

VAUDEVILLE CHANGES

LOEW'S ORPHEUM — Bronson and Renee and the Cantor Girls in "Last Minute Impromptu"; Roy Fant and Madeline Lee in "Tin Types"; The Royal Gascoynes and "Teddy" the balancing dog; Smith and Strong in "Voices from the West"; other turns and films.

SCOLLAY—Danny Duggan and his dance revue company; Lee and Cranston in the comedy skit, "Mary, Queen of Shots"; Millard and Marlin in "College Capers"; Al Abbott in his travesty, "At the Old Town Hall"; other turns and films.

OLYMPIA—Gladys Delmar and Boys in a dance act; Bigson Herbert company in the farce, "Father's Holiday"; Norris' Monkey Movie Stars, simian entertainers, in "Apeing Screen favorites"; other turns and films.

B. F. KEITH'S—Eugene O'Brien, screen star, personally appearing in the dramatic playlet, "Restitution"; Elsa Ersi and Nat Ayer, musical comedy artists; Ed and Tom Hickey, those "Two Elegant Gentleman"; Hayes and Cody in "For No Reason at All" and others.

GOBLINS AND GNOMES IN 'CHICAGO'S' DELIRIUM

"BILLY FLYNN" BY JACK ROSELEIGH
ROXIE HART BY FRANCINE LARRIMORE
"MARY SUNSHINE" BY EDA HEINEMAN
AMOS HART BY CHARLES HALTON

These four characters contribute the sharpest snap and crackle in the blazing fun that is "Chicago" at the Plymouth. Although the merriment is bitterly ironic, no one is laughter-proof when he recognizes so much truth lurking beneath this not-so-absurd satire on the Windy City.

Fred Thomson Takes Big Chances In Film Stunt

One of the greatest, if not the most dangerous risks ever attempted by any 'motion picture star, is credited to Fred Thomson, star of "The Pioneer Scout," new film at the Keith-Albee Boston.

The action of the story calls for Thomson to leap from Silver King, his Arabian steed, going full speed, to the axle of a wagon drawn by four horses who also are going full bent. The axle was torn from the main part of the wagon in a crash, and having only two wheels, it was like jumping to a chariot, only there was less room to stand on.

Fred Thomson

Thomson refused the services of a double, declaring he did not believe in such practice, and forthwith attempted the feat himself successfully. Directors Ingraham and Werker were exceedingly nervous during the taking of the scene, and were much relieved when it was completed without injury to the star.

Cecile Dixon Is Cousin of Sir John Martin-Harvey

Cecile Dixon, member of the E. E. Clive organization at the Copley, is a cousin to Sir John Martin Harvey, one of the most noted actors in England. She declares that hereditary talent seldom helps in the theater; that all advancement therein comes from hard work and study and occasionally a "break" such as she received several years ago when she was appearing in England. At that time John Galsworthy became interested in her and made it possible for her to come to America with George Arliss as the leading figure.

Cecile Dixon

Incidentally it was with this company that Miss Dixon made her debut in this city.

VARIETY AND PICTURES

Suntaug Will Open for Eve of Holiday

The opening for this season of Suntaug Inn, that popular North Shore resort, is set for next Wednesday.

This season it will be opened to the public under ownership management, the change having been made last month. The new owners are John Walsh and Stephen Fahey.

Mr. Walsh is well known as a musical director in Lynn and the North Shore. Mr. Fahey was formerly chef and steward of the Park Club of Lynn.

Popular St. James Player Has Record In Movies

Edith Speare, popular member of the Keith-Albee stock company at the St. James, may truthfully be given the journalistic classification of "local girl."

She was born in Malden, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Speare. She went to the Dorothy Dix school in Boston and was known as a child actress of great ability with the John Craig players at the old Castle Square Theater. Her education was completed in New York and she went directly to rejoin the Craig players, now as a grown-up. Her first principal role was in "The Two Orphans" at the Castle Square. Miss Speare has also appeared in motion pictures with Alice Joyce and Director Allan Dwan.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT

The first opportunity to measure the relative merits of the glee clubs of Harvard and Yale Universities will be afforded by the first public joint concert of these two foremost university choruses, in Symphony Hall, on Thursday evening, April 26.

Theater Treasurers Club to Give Benefit Show

The Theater Treasurers Club of Boston will give its fourth annual all-star benefit entertainment at the Colonial Theater on Friday afternoon, May 10. This event, which marks a red letter day in Boston's theatrical season, bids fair this year to surpass all previous efforts of the box-office men and the theatergoing public may look forward with keen expectation to a program of entertainment presented by an array of artists that will comprise all the stars who will be playing in Boston at that time.

Ernest Grenier

The proceeds of the entertainment forms a relief fund of the organization which is used to care for the members who are sick or otherwise incapacitated and the dependents of those who die.

The officers of the organization who are in charge of the entertainment this year are Ernest A. Grenier, president; Frank D. Orvitt, vice-president; Hugo W. J. Lundgren, treasurer; Abraham Coplen, financial secretary, and Thomas E. Hoche, recording secretary.

STEPHENSON TELLS HOW KLAN FOUNDER ESCAPED BEING SLAIN

EX-GRAND DRAGON REVEALS ATTEMPTS ON HIS LIFE

In previous chapters of the remarkable deposition of David C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan of Indiana, details have been given of character assassination, with public officials, and even of Klan officers, who were opposed to the faction to which the malcontents belonged, as victims. Today he reveals instances of actual, physical murder.

(Copyright, 1928, by the Boston Evening American and International News Service. Reproduction in Whole or Part Absolutely Prohibited.)

Chicago, Ill., April 14—Startling facts regarding the killing of Capt. William S. Coburn, one of the adherents of the founders of the organization, and at one time a leader of the organization second only to Col. William J. Simmons, are revealed by David C. Stephenson for the first time.

His deposition continues:

Q. — Mr. Stephenson, directing your attention to your previous testimony, you stated that Capt. William S. Coburn of Atlanta, Ga., was murdered. Relate if you can the incidents surrounding the killing of Capt. Coburn and who was responsible for it. A.—I previously stated that Capt. Coburn was murdered by a man who gave the name of ——— that was, so far as I knew, his true and correct name.

I have also previously described a conversation, or rather related a conversation that took place between another man and myself at Buckey Lake, O., and later at Cincinnati, O., at which he said he was going to have Coburn killed at Atanta. The date I cannot recall.

He told me he was filling——— "full of poison meat" and dubbed upon that statement so that I was given to understand that by it he meant that he was telling ——— that he was in possession of facts that would prove that Coburn circulated stories derogatory to the character of ———'s wife. ——— was a fellow that grew up in the southwest, Texas, I believe, and he had some odd ideas about carrying justice in his hip pocket and they kept poisoning his mind. ——— became so incensed that he finally told them he was going to kill Coburn.

They told him that Simmons was just as deeply involved in the thing as Coburn and that if he was going to kill Coburn he might as well get both of them and make a good job of it.

They told me that ——— had asked him how to get in and see Col. Simmons and said they had suggested to ——— that he call at the home of Col. Simmons and tell Col. Simmons or his wife or whoever came to the door that he was going to turn and wanted to relate the facts of some terrible things happening at the "palace," which meant the national headquarters of the Klan. The "palace" is nothing but a shanty by the side of the road down at Atlanta.

They said they explained to ——— that if he related that story at Col. Simmons' door he would immediately be admitted to the presence of Col. Simmons; that is to say; to create in the mind of Col. Simmons the idea that ——— had broken with them. That would be a way to get entry to Simmons' home.

"They related these facts to me themselves. And after Capt. Coburn was murdered I learned that ——— actually did go to the home of Col. Simmons and endeavored to gain an audience with Col. Simmons just prior to the time that ——— murdered Col. Coburn It happened, however, that Col Simmons was not at home. In fact, he was not in the city of Atlanta, but was at the bedside of his mother in a hospital in Birmingham, Ala.

occurred. The boat was consumed, there was no insurance, and the loss was approximately $10,000.

On another occasion a man who is now serving time in Indiana State penitentiary as an habitual criminal set fire to my home, 5432 University ave., Indianapolis. This man traveled all over the United States burning Catholic churches, while in their employ, and in one instance burned a restaurant in a small town in Illinois, which came very near resulting in the death of the proprietor, his wife and their two babies.

Another instance where an effort was made to take my life was at Indianapolis. They employed a gunman to come to my home and attempt to assassinate me when I got out of my automobile.

One night, while returning from my office, just as I alighted from my automobile, a terrific explosion occurred directly in front of my face. How it ever missed me I don't know.

A shotgun was discharged through the glass of the side window of the car. It went out through the top of the car, tearing a hole about two inches wide and eight inches long as it went through the top at an angle.

Q.—In your earlier testimony you made the assertion that you had occupied various positions, official and otherwise, in the plaintiff corporation known as the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. State specifically what you mean by the term "various positions?" A. — I mean that towards the end I was assigned to the position known as Imperial Kliaif, I believe that is the title of it.

At that time I was reporting somewhere in the neighborhood of a half million dollar a month from the State of Indiana.

I will state that altogether I have paid in approximately $20,000,000 in cash. I never sought the appointment, it was given to me. Anyway all the activities of the Klan which affected the territory over which I had control were discussed and settled in those conferences. I occupied that position over a period of perhaps a year or more.

Follow this amazing expose of the Klan by one of its own chiefs in Monday's Boston Evening American.

Texas Judge's Kindness Foiled Plot Against Him

Q.—Are there any other instances that you can recall where a woman was used to destroy the character of a prominent citizen? A.—Yes, sir. One case in particular in Texas. The man was a judge; not one of the self styled judges created for political purposes but an active presiding judge on the bench in one of the Texas courts.

They regarded the judge as hostile to their interests and felt quite certain that the judge would not meekly and passively yield to their dictates. And so they called in their two gunmen. I don't know what the facts are in regard to that.

The two gunmen went into the home of the judge whom I have previously named. This is a matter of public information and all of the facts are now available. They obtained the services of a slow-witted delinquent girl in the streets and forced her under their duress to go to the home of the judge and there tear her clothes and run into the streets screaming and charging that she had been attacked by the judge.

She carried the plan out so far as going to the home of the judge was concerned, but there she was treated with such gracious kindness by both the judge and his refined wife, that she lost her nerve and couldn't go through with the scheme, and she returned to town.

They were so enraged because she would not carry out the conspiracy against the character of the judge that they whipped her and beat her. They stripped her body nude and tarred her and feathered her, and otherwise tortured her until she returned to the city jail and begged in mercy to be locked up so she would be protected from further assault.

Q.—Have they ever done you any personal injury? A.—They have endeavored on a number of occasions to have my life taken. A plan was made to take my life since I have been here to prevent me from exposing numerous crimes against the tax payers of Indiana.

Previous to my being confined here while I had a yacht anchored in Toledo harbor at Toledo, O., in the lagoon off the Maumee river, they employed a man to burn my yacht. They promised to pay him $10,000 to cause an explosion to occur on the boat when I was aboard that would result in my death as well as the destruction of the boat, but promised to pay the man $2500 to destroy the yacht whether I was aboard or not.

The plot to destroy the yacht was carried out and it was burned at Toledo. The man who burned it was apprehended and finally signed a confession and we have that signed confession now in which he admits that he had been retained to cause a dynamite explosion on board while I was sleeping thereon.

(Counsel talked together in low tone of voice.)

Barrickman—Listen, before we get through we are going to prove——

Connaughton—I will take care of you when we get out of this institution.

Barrickman (Continuing)—Some of the most outrageous things you ever heard of.

Connaughton—Go ahead.

The witness—It must be burning him. We have that signed confession now.

Barrickman—In which he admits that he was retained to put dynamite on board and cause an explosion while he slept there.

He further states under oath that he was employed—

A.—Permit this, in speaking of burning my yacht and taking my life, I want to answer parenthetically here that the threats of violence some times extend even to their attorneys.

On another occasion I had a speed boat on Buckey Lake, O., and they hired a man and instructed him to leave the valve open on the pressure tank so that when I re-entered the boat to start it there would be an explosion with the probable result that I would be rendered unconscious by the explosion and would find myself lying in a boat that was being rapidly consumed from the flames of the gasoline fire.

This was averted by the merest accident because a friend of mine pushed me overboard when the fire to prepare for war, in case it should come?

Those clergymen praying for peace should implore success for a new capitalistic combination uniting England and the United States under the leadership of Sir Alfred Mond, one of Britain's greatest industrialists.

Organized money has a good deal to say about war, and when organized money establishes international partnerships it wants peace, to boom business.

Sir Joseph Duveen, international art dealer, pays $3,000,000 for the Central Presbyterian Church, 57th st., corner of Madison ave., New York. He got a bargain. Inexpensive merchandise will be sold in 57th st. in years to come more than anywhere else on earth. This writer told friends that long ago, but few listened.

Britain proposes that women shall vote as men do, at 21 years of age. An organizing-minded Britisher's "50-50 League" to make women share men's perils. Unless women are drafted in war, say these dull-head gentlemen, women should not vote.

How would the dull-heads feel if men in order to vote had to relinquish their immunity from child bearing.

Women produce the human race, and if the production of children depended on men, with the suffering that goes with it at present, there wouldn't BE ANY CHILDREN.

The fiery Raditch, leader of Croatian peasants, says Mussolini is preparing for war, to take Dalmatia from Jugo-Slavia. Raditch calls on five nations to stop Mussolini. It would take more nations than that.

Mussolini knows that Dalmatia belonged to Italy centuries before Jugo-Slavia was heard of. Old Romans built walls, roads and cities on that eastern side of the Adriatic. Mussolini feels about it as the French felt about Alsace and Lorraine, and with better reasons.

WOODSIES' FINAL BID FOR CUP

Battle Bethlehem Here Today In American Cup Final, Total Goals to Count

Today's Soccer

Boston vs. Bethlehem at Walpole st.
New Bedford vs. Providence at New Bedford.
J. & P. Coats vs. Fall River at Pawtucket.
N. Y. Giants vs. Newark at New York.
Bird & Son vs. Clan Sutherland at Walpole.
General Electrics vs. Clan McIntosh at Lynn.
Woburn Independents vs. Smith & Dove at Woburn.

By BILL McAULEY

The final game of the American cup series with the Woodsies and Bethlehem, two of the greatest soccer machines in the country, is the attraction at Walpole st. today.

This is the finest game ever offered local soccer followers and it is safe to predict that the returns will create a record for a contest in this city.

The Woodsies are in possession of the cup, having won it from Brooklyn last year, and they will make a determined stand this afternoon to retain the trophy which they have won twice out of three attempts.

The elevens met last Saturday at Philadelphia in the first of the final games and the result was a 3 to 2 win for the Steelworkers in an extra time battle.

According to reports, the Woodsies were unfortunate to lose as they had most of the play and were leading by two goals at one time, but the Lewis eleven got the breaks, and goals win games.

Giving a goal away to a team like Bethlehem is some task and the Blue and Gold will have to reach their best form to overcome this lead.

Reports from Bethlehem are to the effect that the Steelworkers were a weakened eleven last week, owing to the absence of McDonald and Carnihan, two of their best bets in the halfback line, owing to sickness. But Carnihan will be a sure starter today, which will make them a more formidable foe.

The Woodsies will be at full strength, every player certain to get at least a fair try at his good shape and from Davidson in goal right down the line to the veteran Fleming the Blue and Gold players are chock full of confidence that they can take the Steelworkers even with the one-goal handicap.

Irrespective of which eleven comes out on top the fans are certain to witness one of the greatest tilts ever staged in this country as both elevens play fast and clean soccer.

PAYNE'S LEAD CUT DOWN

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 14 (NS)—Rejuvenated by the cheers of 100,000 thrilled spectators, C. C. Pyle's bunion derbyists pushed out of Oklahoma City this morning for Chandler, their forty-second contest fifty miles away.

Oklahoma City and the entire state for miles around flocked to the metropolis to pay tribute to Andrew Payne, when Payne hoped he would come in 15th on the 32.5-mile lap from El Reno the enthused thousands cheered Nemer Hoffstetter, N. Y., Finnish-American, the day's pacemaker, to an echo, as they did the others as well.

Erickson stood thirty-second today, with 352:44:07 for his elapsed time for 1,491.5 miles.

Erickson's time for the 32.5 miles was 3:53:24. Olli Wanttinen, New York, and John Gober Moberly, Mo., romped in second in 4:04:30. Wanttinen's continued drive has entrenched him in fifth place, close upon the heels of Philip Granville, Jamaica negro, of Hamilton, Ontario. Wanttinen's elapsed time was 356:09:12.

Tomorrow the Pyle caravan will proceed to Bristow.

SOUTH BOSTON BOXER WINS IN WORCESTER

Worcester, April 14 (AP)—Leroy Carley won over Henry Allaire here tonight on a technical knockout in the sixth round of an eight-round bout. Sam Lucci of Hudson was awarded a decision over Young Granbery and Nick Zenna of South Boston won the judges' verdict over Billy Champalgny in two eight-round melees. Mickey Hickey won a decision over Wild Man Goula in six rounds, and Billy Jacques was awarded a decision over Eddie Costa.

OLD TIMERS SWING BACK TO ACTION TONIGHT

WHEN OLYMPIC BASKETBALL WAS ROUGH, TOUGH AND READY THE EAST BOSTON A. A. team of 20 years ago was the peer of them all. This old team played the best outfits in the East, including Gloversville, Newport Naval Reserves, 23d St. of New York, Crescents of Paterson, N. J., St. Johnsbury, Vt., and other teams of that class. Members of this old team tonight will play another team of old timers led by George Hoyt in the East Boston high school gymnasium. In this picture of the old East Boston A. A. players are, back row, left to right, Manager Mossy Fitzgerald, Pat Crowley, Bill Coady, Bill McDonnell and Henry Higgins, trainer. Front row, Jim Crowley, Tim Desmond, George Burke, Freddie Corbett and Johnny Brett. In front, Mascot, Frank Fay.

BAKER PLANS TO TRAIN AT TOLAND'S

Sergt. Sammy Baker, knockout conqueror of Ace Hudkins and Mushy Callahan, will arrive in the Hub early Tuesday morning and will workout at Jim Toland's Gymnasium in the afternoon in preparation for his 10-round battle next Friday night against Clyde Hull, Cisco Fort Worth, Tex., at Mechanics Building.

In bringing the sergeant to the Hub early for this important bout Promoter Eddie Mack is following his policy of having the fighters on the ground early in order that no last minute hitches can take place.

And while Sergt. Baker is regarded as a wicked puncher, he faces a veritable crushing hitter in Hull, who has caused more real fistic upsets than any other fighter in the game today.

Hull was unknown in ring circles until he met Pete Latzo when the latter wore the welterweight togs. This occurred in Texas and the champion was saved from a knockout by the long count of his own referee.

And even then, the titleholder was fortunate to last the limit. Immediately there was a clamor to see this hard-hitting unknown in action in the east and he made the trip to his section from his Lone Star State hearth.

Hull is one of the most terrific right-hand punchers among the present day boxers. During the past couple of years he has dropped practically every boxer he has faced and although he had little idea of timing his punches or the art of catching them coming in, still he hit with such power, they dropped regardless of where he landed on his opponents.

Hull is a pupil of that old master of the ring, Mike Gibbons of St. Paul. It was the old phantom who taught Hull all the tricks of the trade but when Mike got a peek at Hull's crushing wallop, he immediately gave up all hope of making him a boxer and fitted him out to become a fighter with little attention to the science of the game.

And while the 10-round windup is arousing the interest of the fans, there is great local interest in the 10-round meeting between Arthur Flynn, former Lawrence schoolboy, and Nando Tassi, light heavyweight champion of Italy.

Jake Zerangue of Lynn, winner of 16 straight fights will clash with Al Bourregard of New Haven, who has won his last 11 starts.

In another six-rounder, Andy Callahan of Lawrence, former amateur champion who has won his last fights in a row will face Eddie Holmes of Providence, winner of nine straight.

Wollaston Man Wins

Pinehurst, N. C., April 14—In the final of third division, A. H. Pierce of Wollaston defeated George Manship of Deland, Fla., by 3 and 1, and in the final of the fifth, H. C. Bookminster of Tedesco defeated Harry Munger of Plainfield, N. J., in a 19-hole match.

TUFTS BATTLES SPRINGFIELD AT OVAL

Tufts, with its opening game tucked safely away, meets Springfield College on the diamond at Tufts Oval this afternoon.

The Physical Directors have been humbled by the Jumbo for the past three years, but this year Springfield has had the advantage of a southern trip The Red Triangle nine was one of the first college teams in the South this spring and it had for the most part a successful trip.

The Nassmen have been outdoors only a week and a half, and although they showed strength against Lowell Textile last Wednesday in their opener, just how they will perform against a more powerful foe is a matter for conjecture.

CAPT. KENNEDY OUT

Another point in Springfield's favor will be the likely absence of Fred Kennedy, the Tufts captain and star shortstop. Doyle's place in the batting order is impossible to fill.

The Lynn lad is the heaviest and most consistent hitter on the Brown and Blue squad, and follows Ellis and Leonardi on the latter for that reason. Kennedy is suffering from a touch of the grippe which he contracted in a practice session earlier in the week, and is not expected to be in uniform.

"Fish" Ellis, who seems to have the facility for stepping into any breach which needs filling, will undoubtedly get the short field in Kennedy's absence. "Gene" Tobey, a former all scholastic outfielder, will patrol the center garden vacated by Ellis.

TWO PITCHERS READY

Both Smith and Bowker are slated to work on the mound for Tufts. Each has plenty of speed and stuff, although Bowker is inclined to be unsteady at times, while "Lefty" Smith has a wealth of control.

Coach Nash is also undecided about his catchers. Cornbusm is the veteran backstop, but Melley, former Winchester high star has shown equal ability behind the bat and has a deadly eye with the ash in the bargain.

TWO CHAMPIONS WILL NOT BE IN NATIONALS

San Francisco, April 14—San Francisco's two national amateur boxing champions, Mike Mallory, heavyweight, and Francis Burke, lightweight, will not defend their 1927 titles at Boston, April 23-24.

Sonnenberg Wins

Fall River, April 14—Gus Sonnenberg, former Dartmouth wrestling star, defeated Frank O'Dell of Woburn in two straight falls here. Employing his customary whirlwind tactics, Sonnenberg succeeded in pinning his rival's shoulders to the mat in 11 minutes and in six minutes, respectively.

Amateurs Glad at St. Joe's Tonight

After a week's absence, amateur boxers will return to the spotlight tonight at Commercial Hall, Bowdoin sq., where the St. Joseph's T. A. B. will conduct what is expected to prove one of the best tournaments of the season.

With bouts carded in seven classes and with the various leaders of these divisions entered, it is expected that the fans will witness a program of almost 40 bouts for more than 80 entries are already on hand.

Bouts will be staged in seven open classes, including 115, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160 and heavyweight. In the last named class, no less than six entries are expected. This class always is the most popular with the fans.

B. U. Sport Notes

The Terrier baseball squad will be given an opportunity to become acquainted with Rhode Island this week, when the Rams invade the State at Kingston Wednesday and Brown at Providence Saturday.

Larry Kelly's work in the box against Rhode Island State will be a determining factor as to whether he was once a great schoolboy pitcher, but he has played the outfield for at least two seasons.

Coach Reggie Brown will start spring football practice Monday. The condition of the field at Riverside forced him to delay practice two weeks.

Freshman baseball gets under way next week when the Terrier Cubs travel to Andover to meet the academy on Wednesday. Coach Funk has a smart nine and he predicts a good season.

The track team will be given plenty of practice for the dual meet with Northeastern on Saturday. The Huskies have defeated the Terriers in track for the last two years and Coach Burns wants to make amends.

Coach Freddie Cocoran is taking his golf team to every available course in Greater Boston in order to familiarize them with different golfing conditions.

There is still quite a bit of excitement at the university over the action taken by the basketball players refusing to return their uniforms. The students are waiting to see what the athletic heads will do

After a week's vacation the tennis team will start practice again. The racquet wielders open their season with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, April 28.

Although the wrestling and boxing teams have practiced steadily for the past two months, they have been unable to secure outside matches or bouts so they will disband until next year.

RING STARS OUT FOR OLYMPIC PLACES

Judging from the early list of entries received for the 1928 national boxing championships to be held at the Boston Arena, Monday and Tuesday nights, April 23 and 24, every almon pure in the country, who is capable of drawing a padded mitt over his fists, is eager to win a berth on the American Olympic boxing team.

Never in the many years of the history of the event has such interest in the event been manifest more than a week before the tournament. Tom Kanaly, manager of the show for the N. E. Assn. of the A. A. U., is literally swamped with entries at the B. A. A., and present indications point to plenty of trouble in keeping the bouts limited to two nights.

But the committee refuses to consider a third night for the show and many entries probably will be refused late next week when the list assumes vast proportions.

No boxing event of the year, whether it be amateur or professional, attracted such widespread interest as the nationals. It's the annual test of the almon pures of the country, and with places on the Olympic team as rewards for this year's winners, it's not surprising that indications point to the shattering of all records, both for entries and attendance.

Every association affiliated with the A. A. U. regards the tournament with eagerness, and although many boys will be disappointed during the competition here, there is bound to be many classy boxers uncovered during the ceremonies at the Arena.

From New Orleans, Louisville, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Tulsa, Washington, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York, New Haven, Cleveland, Grand Rapids and other boxing centers of the country, boxers will soon set forth headed for the Hub and the expectant fame, which it is hoped will be waiting for them here.

MR. BOSTON came gliding into the sporting department to day on a pair of roller skates.

"I have a rather large evening ahead and so wanted to speed up the transportation," piped the veteran. "I have an invitation to drop in at the opening of Alex MacLean's roller skating rink at Revere, while I'm also down to look the old-time basketball players over when they report for action at the East Boston high school gym.

"With my little roller skates working K. O. Coakley, I'll violate a few speed rules, but drop in at both places. In these days of congested parking in the cities, it would be a swell idea to equip every motorist with a pair of roller skates. He could then park his tin chariot in the suburbs and come breezing into town on roller skates. Of course it might be well to fill in some of the holes on the city streets or at least mark the jumping off spots.

"Twenty years ago roller skating was one of the most popular sports in the country. It was a rage with the old as well as the young. Now the kids are the only ones who go in for this pastime 100 per cent.

"Alex MacLean says his rinks at Revere and Cambridge have helped to bring some of the oldtimers back to the sport. Alex says roller skating is the best substitute for the spring of perpetual youth.

AFTER listening to some of these kid basketball stars tell how good they are, the old-time East Boston quintet and George Hoyt's All-Stars decided to step out tonight and show how the game should really be played. They are putting on a game for charity's sake at the East Boston high school gym.

"It was at first suggested that wheel chairs be employed to remove the injured from the playing field, but the oldtimers became indignant. They asserted that they'll be able to parade to the sidelines after the final whistle blows.

"I note where my old pal, Bill McDonnell, is going to don the spangles for the East Boston five. Bill was one of the best basketball players New England ever produced. He carried the same energy, courage and intelligence he employed on the basketball courts along with him when he stepped forth to battle in the law courts. He made an enviable reputation as a trial lawyer and was later named as first assistant to Dist. Atty. Bill Foley.

"In looking over the East Boston lineup, I got a glimpse at the name of Jim Crowley. He was a famous star with the East Boston team years ago. When your friend, Mr. Boston, was trying to pick up a little book knowledge at the High School of Commerce, Jim was athletic director at that school. How old is Jim? That's one for the boys who study the fourth dimension.

"Other players who will don the East Boston uniforms tonight are Mossy Fitzgerald, Pat Crowley, Bill Coady, Henry Higgins, Tim Desmond, George Burke, Fred Corbett and John Brett. Joe Fay will act as mascot.

"George Hoyt's All-Stars will include Fred Barnstead, Charles Featherstone, Jack LaClair, Jack Widell, Henry Crean, Ichabod Bunker, Hugh McKinnon, Barney Conley, Kid Wright and George Hoyt.

BASKETBALL, at one time one of the most popular sports in New England, is rapidly coming back. It is being played in the schools, colleges and clubs. It furnishes intense action and requires a great deal of skill and physical condition on the part of the contestants.

"If you have an open evening, drop over and see the oldtimers play tonight. So that there will not be any danger of the cash customers getting short changed, the committee in charge of tonight's affair has arranged that another basketball clash between a team of young bloods. You will have an opportunity to compare the old with the new. And I'm willing to bet a new spring lid that the oldtimers will show the kids of today many new wrinkles connected with the game of basketball."

Somerville Opens With Lynn Classical

Somerville high school will entertain Lynn Classical in their opening game this afternoon and the battle promises to be one of the best of a local list of schoolboy baseball games scheduled.

Prospects of a championship at Somerville high school are very bright, although Coach Charlie Dickerman started the season with only four veterans. He has two sweet pitchers in Al Blanche and Johnny Murphy.

These two boys loom as the best pair since the days of Haskell Billings and Sonny MacFayden now of big league fame. Murphy was a star at Southern junior high school last spring and should stand the high school boys on their heads.

Larry Donovan at third base is the captain of the Red and Blue. Corbett, another veteran, will be at shortstop. Al Lappi, experienced catcher, will be behind the batters. Severoni, who played at second base last spring, has been shifted to the outfield.

Blanche will probably start on the mound for Somerville high school, but young Murphy will get a chance to show his wiles and curves for a few innings if Somerville can get off to a lead.

Dorchester high school will meet the Red and Black Alumni at Wainwright playground. The Dorchester nine lost a few of veterans from last spring's outfit, but Bill Pendergast has hopes of a team that will be in the thick of the battle for the City School Crown.

Captain Joe Sullivan and Billy Marshall are the outstanding veterans. Sullivan plays first base and Marshall covers the center field territory. Both are heavy stickers. Mulligan will be on the mound for the alumni.

George Johnson will try to chalk up a third victory of the season when Concord high meets the alumni. Johnson has beaten Waltham and Dorchester and is shaping up as one of the best schoolboy pitchers of the season.

Bouts Last Night

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

St. Paul, Minn.—Billy Light, St. Paul welterweight, retains over Jack McCarthy, Chicago (10). Kid Palmer, Tacoma, beat Tommy Harol, St. Paul (6).

Dayton, O.—Jackie Reynolds, Muncie, Ind., won on a foul from Eddie Dyer, Toledo (4). Young Garrett, Middletown, O., stopped Frankie Crosser, Muncie (4).

Buffalo, N. Y.—Frankie Schoell, Buffalo, beat Jack Hartley, New York (10). Phil Delmont, Columbus, O., defeated Art Wanderlich, Buffalo, (6).

Hollywood, Cal.—Harry Billigan, Philadelphia, outpointed Kenny Small, Boston (10).

YOUNG PITCHER B. C.'S HOPE

Philadelphia, April 14 — Coach Hugh Duffy of Boston College will use either Charley Murphy or Johnny Mantle against Drexel here this afternoon. Shea worked against Temple and McNulty was on the mound against Villanova.

Boston College has been playing poor ball since arriving at Philly, and their two-day layoff threw the boys out of their strides. Duffy, however, still believes that his team has plenty of latent power and expects them to be in trim for their two games on the holiday next week at the Phils' home.

Drexel has not shown much strength in their games this spring and Boston College should have Philadelphia tonight with a win over the Institute nine. The Eagles have not lost their hitting eyes.

Andy Morris, playing his first year on the varsity, has been clicking on the ball with great success. He has been hitting for almost a .800 average on the Southern trip.

Al Weston continues to hit well and has managed to connect for two hits in most of the games. Larry Gibson, newcomer to the varsity, is another Eagle who has been hitting the ball regularly.

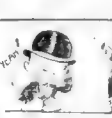
Boston College lost a tough ball game to Temple. Lefty Shea had little of the control that he showed against Georgetown in the opener and was touched up for 13 hits. Shea is an in-and-outer.

TUFTS FRESHMEN PLAY AT MILTON ACADEMY

Tufts freshmen will open their diamond season against Milton Academy at Milton today.

The Frosh have only been practicing a week and Coach Jim Leo Cain has had considerable difficulty in selecting a nine from 45 candidates who reported last week.

Joie Ray's Entry in Marathon Is Fitting Climax to Great Career



EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

JOIE RAY TO RUN IN MARATHON

Entry Blank of Chesty Chicago Runner Surprises Unicorn Officials

Joie Ray, winner of the Hunter Cup and many other trophies and mile runner who has been cheered by thousands, has entered the B. A. A. Marathon.

It is to be a notable entry, although nobody ever thought of Chesty Joe as a Marathoner.

The entry list equals that of last year. The mark is on the roster.

That's one angle of the record and many more are expected before the race is held on the shores of Chairman Albert Geiger and the rest of the club's athletic committee that the list will exceed 225, are sure to be realized.

In fact, with seven days for late entries to pour in the chances are that the list will amount to 250 or more.

Ray will wear 196 in the race.

Other entries, which increased the total by 17, were T omas Koepfel, Somerville; Harold A Leary, Philadelphia; Eugene Boyer, Taunton, John Halter, Youngstown, O Charles Dobrosky, Youngstown, O H. J Moore, Wakefield Y. M C. A. John Healey, Lawr, Francis Hughes, Oriental Club, Hamilton, Ont.; Charles Morton, Grampe Club, Hamilton, Ont O T Wood, University of Vermont; John McHugh, Pittsburg; James H Montagne, Olympic Club, Washington, D C William Wilson Meiklejohn, Chicago Athletic Association, Chicago; J. K. Mellon, Meadowbrook Club, Pittsburgh, Joseph M. Harvey, Meadowbrook Club, Philadelphia, and Thomas J Walsh, Charlestown.

The three entries from the Quaker City Winnmaker store athletic club mean that organization is after the team prize. Montague was completed in the race.

Gehrig Gets First Homer of Season

Philadelphia, April 14 (INS)—The home-run duel between Ruth and Gehrig, home run twins of the New York Yankees, is on again, and Lou Gehrig is one up on the Babe. Gehrig hit his first homer of the season against the Athletics yesterday. He also pounded a triple, while a double was the best Ruth could get.

Hughie Hill Has Bad Leg Injury

Chicago, April 14 (AP)—The Chicago Bruins are now without the services of their star this season, Hughie Hill. Hill suffered a bad leg injury in last Sunday's tie game and has been limping badly.

12 EVENTS IN TECH HANDICAP MEET TODAY

Tech track athletes will be in competition on the cinders for the first time this season in a dual handicap meet in which 12 varsity and freshman candidates are entered.

Twelve events will be run off. Coach Oscar Hedlund will watch closely the action of his hurdlers in an effort to get a man to fill the shoes of ex-Capt. Harry Stedman, former intercollegiate 220 yard low hurdle champ. Several promising spring candidates will also compete.

GREEN FRESHMEN IN NEED OF GOOD PITCHERS

Hanover, N. H., April 14—The freshman baseball squad continued the routine set by Coach Sol Hazleton today and went through the customary hard hits and batting practice. The freshman lack pitchers very badly but have an abundance of catchers. Sol Hazelton may convert some of his fielders into candidates for the mound position, if no hidden turn up in the next few practices.

GLASGOW RANGERS WIN SCOTLAND FOOTBALL CUP

Glasgow, Scotland, April 14 (AP)—The Glasgow Rangers won the Scottish Football Association cup today, defeating Celtic of Glasgow four goals to nothing. All the scoring was in the second half.

BACK IN STRIDE AGAIN

SOCKING TWO HOMERS AND PLAYING A fine fielding game, Phil Todt proved in the second Washington tilt that he is going somewhere this season with the Red Sox. His two homers were Ruthian clouts. His footwork around first base in shifting to take wide throws from his infielders showed that Phil has improved his fielding game.

Virginia Judge Is Afraid of Fighters

By FRANK G. MENKE

WHENEVER a kid actor wants a little help and coaching he can find no one more eager to lend an ear than Walter C. Kelly, who long has been famous as "The Virginia Judge."

But Kelly draws a line on tutoring pugs who yearn to strut before the footlights thinly disguised as actors—or, is it better to say acrobats?

There's a reason.

"It goes back nearly 50 years" relates Kelly. "It happened right after Tom Sharkey had mixed it with Jim Jeffries in a few 20-round battles in Coney Island. Sharkey's great fight against a needs champion had made him quite an idol and I was invited to be one of the entertainers at a banquet given for 'Big Tom' Sullivan a short time later.

"Tom arrived backstage a long time before he was due to go on. He came to me, voiced a hopeless mess and asked me to tell him how to act and what to say. So I wrote out a 3-word speech for Tom and started to rehearse it.

"FOR more than an hour Tom pawed over the words and, although I was his only audience, he floundered the lines. Then came the call for Sharkey, who merely had to walk onto the stage, speak a 25-word tribute to Sullivan—and then walk off.

"The stage manager almost had to shove him onto the stage. When Tom got there he began blinking his eyes. Then he started to walk toward the back of the stage. I stood in the wings, as close to the stage proper as I could and tried to muster him forward. But Tom was too tied up to hear me or see my motions.

"Finally he arrived at the very back of the stage. I got as close as I could and yelled above the cheers of the crowd 'Get out in front—in front; go to the footlights' Tom held no attention. I yelled louder. Then he heard me. After which he forgot his stage fright—he forgot everything except that somebody was yelling at him.

"GLAD that I had his attention and wanting to make sure that Tom would hear me, I yelled: 'Out front—front—get to the footlights.'

"Tom took one menacing step toward the wings, six or seven wild gyrations, he uncovered. 'If you're ashamed, I'll knock your block off.' And then Tom, all four cylinders ceased of only a rapping, one had yelled orders at him toward the footlights.

"God he recite that speech? He did not! He looked out into the crowd and growled. Then he went into the wings until he was directly on me. Then he roared:

"'I'll fight any guy in the place and I'll wipe him.'

"After which he swaggered off the stage, turned during at me and glared at me as if he hoped I'd accept the challenge. Since Tom since I've decided not to teach them how to act, or feed them cues. I'm content to be a judge in their stage work. 'It's too dangerous.'

Braves and Giants Game Called Off

New York, April 14—The contest scheduled between the Braves and Giants for this afternoon was called off because of cold weather. The rival managers did not feel that it would be worth while to risk their pitchers' arms in the frigid breezes blowing through the Polo Grounds.

Johnson Peer of Mound Men, Says Kid Figures

By DAMON RUNYON

JAWN J. McGRAW, the not-so-little Napoleon of baseball, once said to me, sez he:

"Baseball figures don't lie."

I have forgotten the provocation for the statement. Perhaps Jawn J. McGraw had reference to his own batting average in the days of his puissance with the Old Orioles, as we fondly speak of them at the club.

But a lowing that baseball figures don't lie, the greatest pitcher in the history of baseball must have been Walter Johnson the Weiser Wonder, now manager of the Newark club of the International League.

I chanced upon the Hon James Peter Sinnot, president of the Newark club, the other day, and his assistant to me that the big man said as sick as reported and to pondering on Johnson of a few years ago when he was the master moundsman of the land.

The late Christy Mathewson will always be my head ideal of a pitcher, but I'd have for a warm personal friendship for my judging to every great, especially when I take the actual figures of pitching performances. Mathewson, I think, had more stuff than Johnson, and no great player, not even George Sisler at his best, ever had a greater variety of a control.

But Mathewson the Mighty

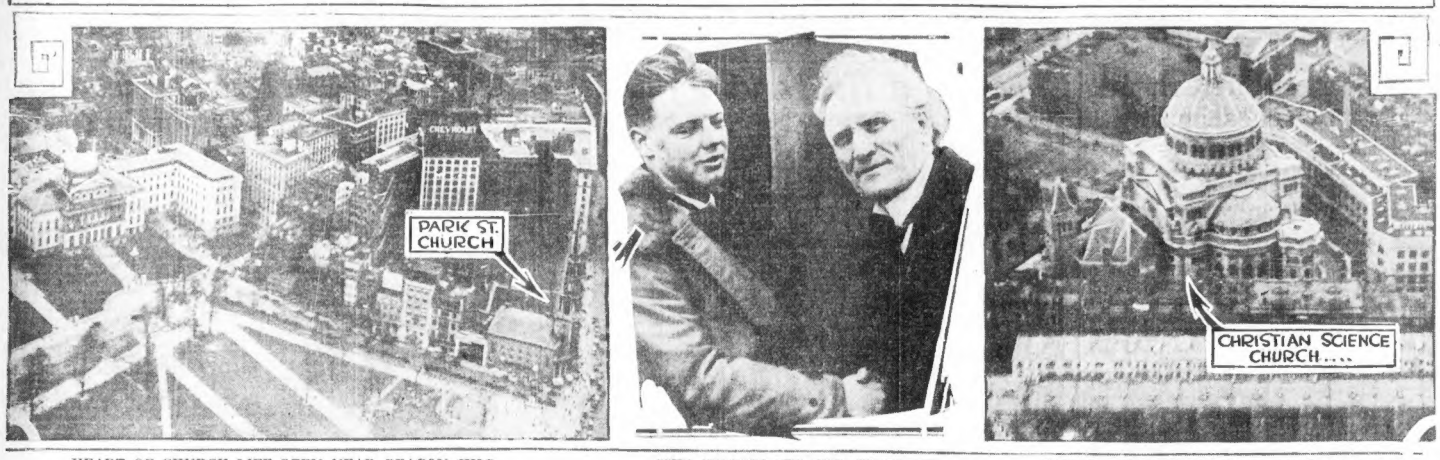
Charch Airplane Camera's Eye Reveals Boston's Busy Centres For Religious Administration



HEART OF CHURCH LIFE SEEN NEAR BEACON HILL
From the church aircraft, looking down upon the State House, the view revealed the center of religious activities. Boston has more such edifices than any city of its size, anywhere. Nearly all denominations are represented in headquarters located within easy reach of Beacon Hill.

"SKY PILOTS" SEE HUB FROM AIR
Ralph Wickford, 22-year-old flier, holding commission as "unlimited transport pilot," flew the church plane over Boston with Dr. Robert Watson as observer.

FAMOUS EDIFICE IN VISTA OVER BACK BAY
The celebrated "Mother Church" of Christian Science, located in the Back Bay, showed itself a wondrous architectural group when those on the church airplane looked down upon the city.

BUSY WEEK FOR THE BOSTON CHURCHES

Park St. Church and Ford Hall are preparing to house the largest Bible conference of local men's Bible classes ever held in Boston. The afternoon and evening of Tuesday, April 24, has been set aside for the sessions. Co-operating to make this conference a true success are the Greater Boston Federation of Churches, The Massachusetts Council for Religious Education, and The Boston Young Men's Christian Association. Prominent Bible students will come to Boston and join local authorities in discussing the "Great Book."

The Easter Pageant given by the young people of Trinity Church will be repeated tomorrow evening, following a brief talk by the Rev. Gardiner M. Day. Friends who wish to see the pageant satisfactorily should be in the church before 7:30. The Rev. Henry K. Sherrill will preach in the morning. A special sermon will be preached by the Rev. William E. Gardner to the Order of Rainbow Girls at 4 o'clock. The members are to assemble at the Public Library and march across to Trinity Church at 3:30.

Dr. Richard C. Cabot, professor of Social Ethics at Harvard University and of clinical medicine at the medical school, will speak tomorrow morning at the Community Church on "Religion and Health." This service at Symphony Hall, Huntington ave. and Massachusetts ave., begins at 10:45.

The novena day at the "Shrine of the Little Flower," St. Stephen's Church, North End, Boston, will be on Wednesday next week on account of Thursday being a holiday. The Rev. James L. Davey of St. Mary's Church, Charlestown, will be the preacher.

Services are at 12:20 noon, 5:30 p. m. and in the evening at 7:45. Dr. Davey will preach at the 5:30 and 7:45 services.

There is special bus service between the church and Union and Haymarket stations of the subway before and after all devotions.

On Saturday afternoon, April 21, in the Copley-Plaza Hotel, the bridge and whist for the Little Sisters of the Poor, Dudley st., Roxbury, will be held.

The committee is in charge of Mrs. William J. Desmond, assisted by Mrs. Frank Sullivan and Mrs. Henry Arnold, in charge of bridge, and Mrs. William Handschumacher in charge of progressive whist. The markers are in charge of Mrs. Winifred Lynch of Ashmont.

The proceeds will be used for the purchase of two statues to replace those destroyed.

Some real up-to-date matters will fair to occupy the attention of the next session of the Suffolk West Association of Congregational churches of Boston and vicinity, if the plans of the program committee, Rev. Herbert A. Jump, chairman, do not fall through. This session will take place next Tuesday, April 17, in the Waverley Church, Belmont. Rev. Charles A. Bidwell, pastor. When men like Charles Bodwell of the Watch and Ward Society, and Mrs. Fanny McMasters of the Florence Crittenton mission set forth some of the problems of public morals as they are meeting with them on the streets of Boston, the subject matter of the discussion is sure to be concrete. In the evening W. W. Jones, secretary of Symphony Manse, one of the most eloquent colored ministers in the country will discuss the race question. Then, too, Mr. Timmy Hsieh of the Chinese Christian Mission will speak on problem of China. In the evening the young people will have open forum.

Tomorrow evening Dr. Robert Watson of the First Presbyterian Church will begin a series of 10 sermons on "The Jew." April 15, "His Origin"; April 22, "His History"; April 29, "His Word Contribution"; May 6, "His Loyalty"; May 13, "His suffering"; May 20, "His Place in America"; June 3, "Our Debt to Him"; June 10, "His Debt to Us"; June 17, "What Can He Do for Us?"; June 24, "What Must We Do for Him?"

The Present Day Significance of the American Revolution" is the title of a talk to be given by Professor David S. Muzzey of Wellesley College at the Ethical Culture Society, Repertory Hall, 264 Huntington ave., tomorrow morning.

Joseph Spano, field secretary of the North American Civic League for Immigrants, will be the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Diocesan Church Service League on the afternoon of Wednesday April 18. The meeting will begin at 3 p. m. and will be held in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral. Mr. Spano's topic will be "The New Immigration."

A Patriots' Day service will be held at Old Tremont St. Methodist Episcopal Church this Sunday evening, April 15, at 7:30. The pastor, Rev. Lynn J. Radcliffe, will preach a sermon on the higher patriotism using as his theme "When Idealism Fails." Moving pictures illustrating "Shrines of American History" will be shown. Patriotic music will be sung and the service will be concluded with a flag benediction.

20 YEARS AGO

Fr. Michael J. Scanlan, rector of St. Rose parish, Chelsea, will speak tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the high school, Tudor st., on the spiritual growth of the city since the devastating fire twenty years ago. All of the local churches, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, will be represented and a large gathering of Chelsea citizens is expected.

DR. WATSON A 'SKY PILOT' ABOVE BOSTON

Dr. Robert Watson, president of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches and minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Boston, Wednesday last became a "sky pilot" in a double sense. For an hour he wrote about in the clouds, or close under them flying with the ease and assurance of a winged spirit viewing the habitation of men from on high.

From church to church Dr. Watson guided his coming aerial chauffeur, the youngest in the service, Ralph Wickford, 22, of the Boston Airport Corporation, East Boston, while another young man, W. W. Jones took photographs of Boston's famous houses of worship. With Dr. Watson also was the editor of the church page of the Boston Evening American, John Pratt Whitman.

The trio were the guests of the airport company, and although the trip into the heavens was the first ever taken by Dr. Watson, he sat smiling with ill-concealed pleasure to have an angel eye view of the city in which he has taken such an important part since he came to his present charge five years ago.

To the Dr. and great metropolis for the time being took on the appearance of a tiny village and he viewed as Gulliver might his fellow citizens on their ways about their tiny streets mapped in their little business.

Dr. Watson found the churches of Boston very different in appearance from anything he had seen before, towering spires were but spear points while the Gothic architecture flattened out into octagonal roof plines, except in such cases as Trinity church and the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, which appeared like crosses evenly laid upon the earth. Far far beneath him Dr. Watson picked out a tiny speck on the sidewalk in front of his church door, and identified it as the Rev. George A. Butters, his assistant, busily engaged in some errand or other, and recalled that he would have been a splinter from the doctor's thumb.

Twice the sky pilot circled above Park Street Church where a workman was seen clinging to the steeple in some sort of petty repairing. So near the roof in his study Dr. A. Z. Conrad sat deep in his books thus dreaming that one of the Congregational friends was considering his behalfed from the very skies.

In his Gabriel visit over the Hub, Dr. Watson demonstrated his camouflage by directing his aerial helmsman to hover for a moment over the Christian Science Mother Church and again above Temple Israel on Commonwealth ave., from where Rabbi Harry Levi often fills the New England Sabbath distances with his morning sermon. The doctor saw to it that a fine panorama was taken at the Second Unitarian Church, Audubon circle.

The Church of Boston, Unitarian, was also captured, but under the impression it was the First Baptist. The sky pilot then directed the young Wickford to the corner of Columbus and Berkeley sts., where the doctor's own church stands, and from there it was but a short run to the Central of the Holy Cross on Washington and Union Park sts. A circle was made and the plane sipped through the supper regions over the Charles river and was soon above Harvard College with the contemplative person of his term at Appleton Chapel and Memorial Hall. The rarified interior atmosphere over Harvard College gave added speed to the little plane, but the sky pilot was heard to give his first sigh as he watched the microscopic scholastic midgets moving slowly from one hive or mound to another.

From Harvard the course was set southward over Dorchester, Atlantic, Wollaston and Quincy with a gentle speed and with 10 or 15 miles added by a strong northeast breeze. Photographer Jones tilted his camera at the new Atlantic Methodist Church, where the Rev. Vaughan Shedd ministers to a growing flock. The next minute placed the doctor directly over the new Belgian Congregational Church with the scaffolding still surrounding its beautiful Gothic tower. The congregation had moved into this church the evening before with a formal procession from the old to the new church. Directly below him Dr. Watson saw the gold dome of the First Parish Church, known as the "Church of the Presidents," because two presidents lie in its crypt. The homeward journey began over the famous Quincy granite quarries, and the pilot looked down into earth workholes two and three hundred feet deep. The quarry, out of which the granite for Bunker Hill Monument was quarried, is fully that deep. The plane soared over the spot where America's first railroad was built, in the days when men prophesied that the steam train would never succeed as a mode of transportation.

The sky pilot found riding in a Stinson biplane with closed cabin, propelled by a Wright Whirlwind motor—the same kind Col. Lindbergh uses—as comfortable and smooth as any automobile on a newly-laid boulevard. Before returning to the airport, the Old North Church was snapped, as the sky-scraping biplane soared down, far down on the tower where once hung the lanterns for Paul Revere.

After almost an hour of "thrills above "The Athens of America," Dr. Robert Watson, honored head of an organization which numbers more than 2000 Protestant churches, stepped from his seat in the plane with a smile of satisfaction and shook his young pilot heartily by the hand. "Wonderful," was about all he said, and again placed his feet on "terra verra," as an old woman once remarked.

The City From Above

Editorial Written by Dr. Robert Watson After Spending an Hour "Sky-Piloting" Above Boston

"God made the country, man made the city, and the devil made the town," is the most odious of all comparisons. Each is bad or good according to the people who live there. The record tells us that the country soon became contaminated and man had to move. We have found the country both bad and good; the same is true of the town. The worst place we ever lived in was a small town. The most practically good place we ever lived was a small town. In the former, the church did not count; in the latter, it was the center around which the life of the town and neighboring country revolved.

A city is to become the final glory of God. It takes both God and man to produce such a city. The city captivates our imagination because we love folks and we greatly sympathize with the urge which drives youth to the great centers.

We always think of God looking down upon the city with tenderest interest. Our own hearts were stirred to the depths this week when we viewed our metropolitan center from an aeroplane. We saw all, but, naturally, we looked for the churches as the city's lighthouses. They appeared well-located and there was a unity in our sight of them that made us feel that God must be well pleased with them. We felt assured that they all are living and striving for the physical and intellectual, the moral and spiritual betterment of the whole center through every person they touch. Doubtless, it is easier to think of this unity of effort and purpose when in the air than on the earth.

We recommend that anyone who has, or is developing the spirit of contention rather than co-operation, to take a trip up and see things as from God's point of view. Not only is this good for "sky pilots" and church workers, but for artisans and authors, bakers and bankers, publishers and politicians—yea, all classes and conditions of men and women who compose a community and should live together for the good of all in the bonds of peace, purity, and love.

Our Lord wept with bitter lamentations over Jerusalem because it was full of contention, hatred and strife. Even the temple had become a "den of thieves" instead of the Father's House. "God is a spirit and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." Such worship guarantees sympathetic co-operation with all who seek the welfare of all in building a city, four square, a dwelling-place fit for men, and, therefore, the delightful home of God.

MINISTERS WILL FIGHT LOCAL EVILS

Serious social and moral conditions existing in the South End of Boston were revealed last Wednesday evening at a meeting of the newly organized South End Ministerial Association that met in the Tremont St. Methodist Church.

The Rev. Herbert A. Jump, of Union Congregational Church, Columbus ave., in an address before the first union laymen's meeting, held immediately following the minister's business session, described a locality where he said evidence shows a nefarious drug peddler's market. He told of liquor raids taking place in view of church windows, and a deplorable state of low morals existing in some lodging houses where tragedies in the lives of young girls and boys may be frequently found.

FOR BETTER POLITICS.

Dr. Robert Watson, president of the association, and minister of the First Presbyterian Church, followed the Rev. Mr. Jump, with a call for what he was pleased to term "clean politics" for the district. He urged voters to arouse themselves and elect wholesome, honest, and fearless officials. Dr. Watson, who has just returned from a trip abroad, while admitting he often grumbles at the kind of representation we get in America, expressed the wholehearted belief that we in this country should be eternally grateful that we live in the finest of all lands.

METHODISTS TURN TOWARD WORCESTER

An event of considerable importance will take place this coming week beginning Tuesday when the New England Methodist Episcopal conference will open its annual session in Worcester, Mass. Several important leaders in Methodism both local and otherwise will be heard on many phases of church and mission work. The conference opens Tuesday evening, 7:30, with an address by Bishop Ivey G. Michael J. O'Hara of Worcester, and a response will be made by Bishop William F. Anderson. There will follow an address by the secretary, Dr. Edward D. Kolseett of the Board of Missions.

Sessions will be held every day until Monday noon April 23. President Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University will appear on the program twice. His public conference sermon is to be preached by J. Franklin Knotts, 2:30 on Wednesday, and in the evening of the same day Bishop Lauress J. Birney, D. D., will speak on China. Thursday evening is looked forward to with special interest when Bishop Fisher of India is to address the Epworth League. Friday evening brings a double attraction with President Marsh and President Mary E. Woolley of Holyoke, both speaking.

On Saturday two women will be heard, Mrs. Welthy Honsinger Fisher of India and Miss Alma Mathews, who takes for her topic "Forty years on Ellis Island." Bishop Edgar Blake preaches Sunday evening, and the conference closes Monday noon with the reading of the appointments by Bishop W. F. Anderson, when many a minister will learn his fate for the following year.

CIRCLED GLOBE

George W. Coleman has returned from his trip around the world, and will tell all about it to the Ford Hall folks Tuesday evening. He will preside at Ford Hall Forum tomorrow evening.

WELCOMING G. W. COLEMAN BACK HOME

The return of George W. Coleman, "Father of Forums," from a trip around the world is the important news for the Ford Hall folks of Beacon Hill. Mr. Coleman arrived in Boston yesterday from New York, where he landed the day before from the last lap of his journey, which took him through the Panama Canal and up the Florida coast. His travels led him through southern rather than northern Europe, and he is prepared to tell of many peoples and of a glorious rest.

An enthusiastic welcome has been prepared by the "folks," to take place next Tuesday evening in Kingsley and Ford Halls, where good things to eat and bright talks to say are already upon the menu for the physical and mental appetites of hundreds who have secured coveted tickets.

The toastmaster will be Dr. Robert Shuler Holmes of Dayton, Beach, Fla., who is coming up as a representative of the Florida Forums just for this occasion.

His Excellency Governor Fuller will bring the greetings of the Commonwealth. United States Senator David I. Walsh is coming up from Washington for this event. Mr. Coleman will deliver the main address.

Among those who will extend the glad hand and welcoming words to the returned prodigal will be Bishop William F. Anderson, Mrs. Jennie Loitman Barron, Lamington Bullard, Henry T. Claus, Fr. Jones I. Corrigan, Comtesse Cullen, Edward A. Filene, Richard Hale, Rabbi Harry Levi, Edward D. Mead.

Tomorrow evening will bring to an end the 20th season of the forum with two notable speakers to give a snapper to one of the most successful winters known to the organization. Dr. Henry Goddard Leach, editor of The Forum magazine, who will speak on "Are We Americans Intolerant?" and the Rev. E. Tallmadge Root, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, who will take for his topic "What Are the Real Heretics?"

SENATOR SAM G. BRATTON TO ADDRESS LOCAL K. C.

The annual dinner of the Massachusetts Knights of Columbus will be held next Thursday, April 19, at the Copley-Plaza hotel.

For several years this dinner has been one of the chief observances of Patriots' day in this city and annually brings together the most representative gathering of its officials and members from all sections of the State. Judging from the demand for reservations it is expected that the attendance this year will exceed any other, and it is expected that there will be at least 1000 present.

The speakers will be U. S. Senator Sam G. Bratton of New Mexico, Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Governor Fuller, Mayor Nichols and Graham McNamee the well-known radio announcer. State Deputy John E. Swift, who is a supreme director of the order, will preside

BOSTON YOUNG PEOPLE TO DISCUSS

The youth of Greater Boston are to be set to work on the most difficult of all tasks next week—"thinking." A Greater Boston youth conference to be held next Saturday at the Mt. Vernon St. Church is for the purpose of "corporate thinking on difficult youth problems." The keynote address will be by Dr. Sherwood Eddy, and at the evening session Dr Sidney A Weston and Dr. Edward Allen, Jr., will speak. There will be other leading authorities on matters pertaining to youth and a large attendance is expected. Youth organizations from all parts of the city will send delegates, carefully selecting those young people especially interested in the purposes of the conference.

STRANGE INTERLUDE

Heigh-ho! Now what merry quip shall we dash off under this picture? Well . . . well . . . well. Let's see, now. It is nominated in the bond that the right-hand corner of this subdivision be devoted to what we call one of these here, now, half-tone funnies. Heh, heh, heh! What shall it be? How about a twister? Or a schmoozle? Whimsies are divine. Why not just a sort of low, broad thwack? But really, old thing, it becomes harder every day to do bladder thwacks. Of course, one can always fall back on Frisby. But he is getting tiresome. And it is time to go to the dentist. "Shoot run this bilge and then go over and get me some aspirin".

Of all the lous
The worst is he
Who says: "I'm sure
I fail to see
Why you should want that $100 dress when you can get one that looks practically just as good for $16.98."

Flight Has Parallel in Leif's Historic Voyage

Dublin, Irish Free State, April 14 (AP)—There is historical parallel for the German-Irish personnel of the trip of the Bremen, the first to span the Atlantic from east to west by air.

In 1000 A.D., two Irishmen and an Icelander with a German foster-father figured in the first discovery and first colonization attempt on the mainland of North America. Now one Irishman and two Germans have made the first discovery of America by direct airplane flight from Europe.

Seamus MacCall, a young Irish historian and archeologist, told the Associated Press the story of Ireland's part in the first discovery of the mainland. It happened when Leif Ericsson, "Leif the Lucky," was blown far from his course on his second voyage to Greenland and eventually reached the North American continent.

Ericsson had first visited the Hebrides and the Irish coast and had in his crew two Irishmen. Little is known about them except that they were very fleet of foot. These Irishmen went to Greenland with Ericsson.

A few years later they joined Thorfinn Karlefni, an Icelander who had a German foster-father, and were the fleet-footed Gaels recorded in books as having been put ashore to spy out the land when Karlefni established his short-lived colony in Vinland," near what is now Cape Breton.

'ICEBOX BANDIT' CAR REVEALS GUN SHELLS

Worcester, April 14 (AP)—Three empty shells from a 32 calibre automatic pistol have been found in the Springfield "icebox" bandits' death automobile, police announced today. They were found while garage men were overhauling the car yesterday and the garage was taken to indicate the shots that killed State Trooper Irving H. Nelson in Pomfret, Conn., Friday of last week, were fired from the rear of the car.

The automobile has been in the possession of its rightful owner, Francis C. Higgins of Worcester for only a few days. It was stolen from him and used in holdups in Springfield and later abandoned in Dudley after the fatal shooting.

A slug was also found in the gas tank and this apparently was one of Officer Raymond G. Gallagher's shots when the Springfield patrolman was in a gun battle with the bandits.

PADDLES CANOE FROM NEW YORK TO MISSISSIPPI

Greenwood, Miss., April 14 (AP)—Stevens Hoskins, who started his canoe near the headwaters of the Allegheny river in southern New York State last February, arrived here today. He paddled down the Ohio river to Cairo, Ill., down the Mississippi to Friar Point, Miss., and then, after hiking to Moon lake, continued his water trip through Yazoo river down the Gulf Yazoo Tallahatchie and Yazoo rivers to Greenwood.

PROMINENT BRITISH PEER TO WED LONDON ACTRESS

London, April 14 (AP)—Announcement was made today that the Honorable David Tennant, younger son of Lord Glenconner and a nephew of Margot Asquith, Countess of Oxford and Asquith, will soon be married to Hermione Baddeley, 21, actress. Miss Baddeley made her first appearance on the stage in 1914 and has appeared in various London productions since.

SATURDAY STOCK SALES RECORD IS SHATTERED

Week-end Wall Street trading saw stocks generally higher. General Motors was a sensation. It started off with the sale of a block of 10,000 shares at the "spread price" of $194-$193, off 4% to 5%. It then rose quickly. Liggett & Myers rose $3 a share, while gains of $1 or more were registered in Curtiss Aero and Continental Can. Trading was active. Sales for the day totalled 2,382,900 shares, shattering week-end high marks.

MOTORS IN BIG FINAL RALLY UP $3

General Motors staged a big final rally in Wall Street trading today. A block of 25,000 shares changed hands, and the final figure of $194 showed the issue up nearly $3 from the day's low.

General Motors began the day with a drop of $3 a share from the previous close, but in the first 30 minutes rallied to above $196 after selling below $193.

U. S. Steel, General Electric, New York Central, Radio, Montgomery Ward and Consolidated Gas in the first hour sold off $1 to $4, but most leaders were pushed forward by the bulls.

The closing was rather heavy, but losses in Friday's favorites were small compared to the week's skyrocketing advances. The ticker ran nearly an hour overtime.

WORCESTER MAN SAVED FROM SUICIDE BY ARREST

Cincinnati, O., April 14 (AP)—His arrest on a charge of carrying concealed weapons saved James Keating, 29, of Worcester, Mass., from taking his own life here last night, he told police today.

Despondent over failure to obtain work, Keating went to a hotel where he wrote a suicide note and left, determined to kill himself. Keating said he had been a federal auditor in Washington, had been employed by a private concern in San Diego, Cal., had had served in the World War. He said he suffered reverses as a result of a nervous breakdown and malaria. Coming to Cincinnati he got work as a taxicab driver for a few days, but last night found himself again out of work.

OPENS NATIONAL G. O. P. CLUB FIGHT ON DRY LAW

New York, April 14 (AP)—A minority of the national affairs committee of the National Republican club declares a committee resolution urging the national convention to adopt a plank favoring repeal of the eighteenth amendment is contrary to the club charter. The resolution will come before the club for action next Tuesday night.

"No well informed person believes repeal is possible, the minority report says, "because 38 states had prohibition by state statute before it was put into the federal constitution."

DAIGNAULT IN NEW APPEAL TO POPE

Rome, April 14 (AP)—Elphege Daignault of Woonsocket, R. I., editor of the paper "La Sentinelle," which was placed on the index, intends to remain in Rome indefinitely making an appeal to the Holy See from the decree of minor excommunication against a number of French-Canadian Roman Catholic priests, Rhode Island. The editor, who was among those against whom the decree was issued, said he intended to have the case thoroughly discussed.

"Whatever may result, our appeal to the Holy See in favor of the law and of the soul's welfare is not stifled," he asserted. "It will continue to make it heard."

The editor-lawyer explained that as an exercise of the Catholic Church he would submit to all its decisions, but that he thought it would not be found disrespectful if he made the explanation "rendered necessary by the measure taken against me and several of my fellow-countrymen."

"If our public conduct is judged reprehensible," he continued, "we plead our good faith as an excuse. Always, before as at home, and even in Rome, we have taken the advice of persons well versed in ecclesiastical legislation. If we should have been in error, the responsibility ought to be shared. That's simple justice.

"In invoking the law of our country and having recourse to the courts, we dedicate and place ourselves as Catholic citizens in a matter of financial administration we have sought to forestall any matter being compromised by an evident abuse of power."

BIG PALESTINE MEETING FOR TOMORROW

Gathering impetus with endorsements from World Zionist leaders, workers for the United Palestine Appeal are arranged for a big meeting at Pythian Hall tomorrow night at 8 p. m.

Henry Yozell of Lynn heads the general committee for the affair, that is called in an effort to keep the intense interest already shown in the world at the same high pitch

As a guest of honor Alexander P. Moore, U. S. ambassador to Peru and newspaper publisher, will be introduced to the members.

Yozell, in connection with his announcement for the meeting made public two letters of endorsement the first coming from Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, and the other from Felix Warburg, founding of Philadelphia, national chairman of the United Palestine Appeal.

"We in the world Zionist Organization are grappling with serious problems affecting the upbuilding of the Jewish National Home with confidence in the ability of American Jewry to continue its liberal and generous support," Dr. Weizmann, in Rome, we are assured of success," Dr. Weizmann wrote in part.

Julius Rosenwald, who recruited his inability to attend tomorrow night's meeting, urged that every sacrifice be made for the cause of success.

"I call upon you and your devoted workers to make every sacrifice to bring this campaign over the top. Our people are willing and prepared to share in the rebuilding of Palestine and in the growth of its economic life. "Every endeavor must be reached. No one must be omitted," he stated

LINDY MAKES NIGHT LANDING IN NEW PLANE

Williams, Ariz., April 14 (AP)—Williams served as a temporary resort in this section for Col. Charles Lindbergh, who made a surprise stop and a night landing here with his new plane last night, on the flight east from Santa Barbara, Cal.

It was the new plane's initiation into night flying, which was made with the aid of a flare dropped from the machine and the headlights of a hundred automobiles. In spite of the fact the landing was a perfect one, Lindbergh apparently failed to relish it.

He left the home of his hostess, Mrs. Lora J. Knight, in Santa Barbara, shortly after noon, refusing to say where he was headed. He landed here at 8:20 p. m. The airline distance is about 500 miles. Lindbergh failed to explain why it had taken him more than eight hours to go 500 miles. Likewise he did not say whether or not he was headed for St. Louis, as friends reported.

Residents of the town, hearing the drone of the plane as it circled overhead and seeing that lights were needed, hurried automobiles to the field and trained their headlights on the runway.

"Sure like I'll start earlier," he remarked as he and his two companions, Harold M. Bixby and Harry Hall Knight, both of Los Angeles, left the field.

Before refiling, they announced they would hop off early today but did not disclose their destination.

Lindbergh's new plane, recently delivered to him at San Diego, is equipped for night flying with landing lights in the wings and means for dropping flares.

7 GET DEATH IN RUSSIAN ECONOMIC REVOLUTION

Moscow, April 14 (AP)—After a trial lasting 26 days, seven men today were sentenced to death on charges of economic counter-revolution through illegal business transactions. Forty-two persons were on trial and of the remainder 39 were sentenced to various terms of imprisonment and five were acquitted.

Six of those sentenced to death were directors of two private Moscow credit companies. The seventh was M. Nigolaevsky, deputy chief of the economic bureau of the state bank.

CAMPBELL APPOINTED SUPERIOR COURT CLERK

With a 58-year service record behind him, Alfred Campbell, assistant clerk of suffolk superior criminal court, today was appointed clerk to succeed the late clerk, John J. Manning, who died recently. The appointment, made by the judges of superior court, will take effect until the November election, when Campbell may announce his candidacy for the six-year term. The position carries a salary of $6800 per year.

PURSE OF GOLD GIVEN TO CAMBRIDGE GIRL

A purse of $255 in gold and a big bouquet of sweet peas were today presented to Miss Mary J. Burke of Cambridge by Commissioner of Public Utilities Henry G. Wells on behalf of the employes in that department. Miss Burke, a stenographer in the commission's railway division is to be married on April 19 to Inspector Edward Moloney of the "Blue Sky" division.

HEAVY QUAKE REGISTERS FROM SEA OF MARMORA

Strasbourg, France, April 14 (AP)—A violent earthquake probably in the region of the Sea of Marmora, was registered at 9:04 a. m., on the seismograph of the Institute of Physics.

The shock was heavier than the Smyrna quake of March 31.

TRANSSHIP GOLD OF SOVIET TO FOIL FRANCE

London, April 14 (AP)—With all the settings of a high seas mystery, the $5,000,000 of Soviet gold claimed by France and refused admittance in the United States, was transferred from the steamer Dresden to another German vessel in mid-channel off Falmouth at midnight and is now on its way to Bremen.

In spite of the nocturnal move was made because the Dresden, carrying the gold from New York, was scheduled to halt at Cherbourg where it reportedly would be subject to attachment of it for French creditors was to be taken soon as the Dresden arrived in the French port.

Arrangements consequently were made with the North German Lloyd steamer Reiher to leave Gravesend and to anchor off Falmouth where the transshipment took place.

Under the cover of darkness the Reiher then proceeded up the channel bound for Cherbourg also signalled the Dresden, dropped anchor and the transshipment of gold was effected.

BRIEF LETTER WINS TICKET

There's another good week ahead for Greater Boston boys and girls as birthday guests of the Boston Evening American. Hundreds have already enjoyed this privilege. Why not YOU?

The weekend is a good time in which you can write a letter to the Birthday Editor, telling him as briefly as possible why you are glad your birthday falls on the date it does.

Remember there isn't any contest about it. No puzzles to solve and no prizes offered. But the only rules to observe are that you must not be more than 16 years of age, and that you write your letter during the week preceding your birthday.

Simple, isn't it? And the reward for your writing a good letter will be a ticket to Loew's State Theater as the special guest of this newspaper. In addition you will also receive an attractive birthday card.

After you have written and mailed your letter address it to The Birthday Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

FREE PATIENTS CAUSE OF MASS. GENERAL DEFICIT

An increase in the number of free patients at the Massachusetts General Hospital resulted in a $90,000 deficit there in the fiscal year just ended, according to the annual report of trustees and officers today. The hospital treated 144 free patients a day it was recorded, and 143 a day who paid small fees for services. Only 83 patients a day paid the regulation charge for which was a decrease in this class over last year

Per capita cost of treatment was $5.73 and per capita cost of food was $2.36. The total of patients was 202,303. To cover deficit and for scientific research, the trustees urge soon to raise an annual sustaining fund of at least $200,000.

ADOPTS AMENDED CUBAN DECLARATION

Havana, April 14 (AP)—With 18 nations abstaining from voting, an amended version of the "Cuban declaration of principles" was adopted by the fourth session of the international emigration and immigration conference. An amendment, sponsored by Spain, provided for changing the seat of the directing body from Rome to Havana. The Cuban proposal would have placed the permanent headquarters in Geneva with an alliance with the League of Nations. The Spanish amendment recited that no occasion exists for establishing new international bodies to deal with migration problems.

WHITE HOUSE PICKETS ARRESTED IN OUTBREAK

Washington, April 14 (AP)—A demonstration staged at the White House today, by about 100 members of the Anti-Imperialistic League of America, ended tomorrow night's meeting, urged that every sacrifice be made for the cause of success.

"I call upon you and your devoted workers to make every sacrifice to bring this campaign over the top. Our people are willing and prepared to share in the rebuilding of Palestine and in the growth of its economic life.

"Every endeavor must be reached. No one must be omitted," he stated
